

FOREIGN RELIEF BILL OVER HURDLE

AIR DEFENSE
PACT SIGNED
WITH PANAMARING OF MILITARY
BASES ROUNDED
OUT BY U. S.

BY EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington, Dec. 11 (P)—A new agreement with Panama for the lease of 14 airfields and other military sites largely rounded out today this country's master plan for air defense with a ring of distant bases.

It ratified by the Panamanian assembly which has been summoned into session Friday, the agreement promises to safeguard the Panama Canal to a degree American officials consider satisfactory under present world conditions.

The Pacific approaches to the United States already have been sealed by a United Nations agreement giving this country sole trusteeship over the former Japanese mandated islands.

And in the Far North—the most vital pathway over the top of the world—Canada and the United States are cooperating closely on defense measures under a formal agreement to extend their wartime joint planning.

Denmark Reluctant

One link in the long-range defense chain remains to be welded, but it is not deemed essential.

Talks are continuing intermittently with Denmark looking to an extension of the 1941 agreement permitting the United States to establish bases on strategic Greenland. These conversations have made little progress, however, and officials expect little in view of the Danish government's reluctance in the face of a vocal Communist minority to take an action which Moscow would resent. But even if the United States is unable to win concessions in Greenland, making use of the big island would be difficult for any potential foe. It is within the Security zone of the new inter-American defense treaty, ratified Monday by the Senate. That document calls for joint action by all the western hemisphere nations against any hostile move within that zone.

Outposts Abandoned

Of two other wartime outposts, American troops already have quit Iceland, and an agreement

Crippled Columbus
Realtor Murdered;
Corpse On Bridge

Columbus, O., Dec. 11—(P)—A crippled real estate man was found dead on a bridge northwest of nearby Worthington late last night, and sheriff's investigator Henry Keely said it was murder.

The victim, identified as Elmo C. Rice, 42, of Columbus, was shot in the back of the head.

Investigators first believed Rice had died of a slashed throat, but Coroner Mitchell Sykes' preliminary investigation uncovered the bullet wound.

Sykes said Rice's throat apparently had been ripped open when he was hurled from a speeding car against the metal bridge in an attempt to throw the body into muddy Olentangy river.

Rice, identified by the family physician, wore a built up shoe with a four-inch sole on his left foot.

SEVEN ACCUSED
IN AUTO RACKET

Wayne Dealers Charged
With Padding Finance
Fees 80-90 Percent

Detroit, Dec. 11 (P)—Seven used car dealers—named in a new crackdown by the Wayne county prosecutor's office with the backing of the better business bureau—were charged before Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis for arraignment today.

They were charged in warrants issued yesterday with violating the Michigan motor vehicle title act by withholding details of sales transactions from car purchasers.

Detective Raymond Schuett of the prosecutor's office and William Carrio, investigator for the better business bureau, accused the group of charging excessive finance fees which, they said, often ran as high as 80 to 90 percent of the finance charges.

The warrants against the seven dealers—including Bert Baker who heads one of the state's largest used car agencies—were issued on complaints of nine individuals listed as owners of automobiles purchased from the used car lots.

Others accused were: Art Vokes motor sales; Doc's Motor Sales and Rocco Benest, Lamart Auto Sales and Louis La Flamme, S. & L. Motor Sales and Laurence Le Clair, John L. Staus and Thomas A. Staus, Sid Savage, and the Paul Motor Sales and Paul L. Papadakis.

Walkout Is Voted
By Western Union
Office in Detroit

Detroit, Dec. 11 (P)—AFL employees of Western Union Telegraph company's Detroit office have voted 558 to 77 in favor of striking to enforce a 15 cent hourly wage increase demand, union officers reported today.

The decision was announced by Robert Cartwright, president of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union Local 11.

He said the strike vote here was part of a national balloting program on issues stemming from what he called a partial settlement of the union's wage demand last April.

Two Trains Strike
Lansing Man's Car;
Driver Badly Hurt

East Lansing, Dec. 11 (P)—Norris R. Buckingham, 48, of Lansing, was reported in a critical condition at the Sparrow hospital here today after the car in which he was riding was struck by two trains last night.

State police said the car was completely demolished when it was hit by a Grand Trunk train at a railroad crossing here and then hurled into the path of a train coming in the opposite direction.

Passenger Trains
Collide In Texas;
2 Dead, 9 Injured

New Braunfels, Tex., Dec. 11 (P)—Two Missouri-Kansas-Texas passenger trains collided head-on near here last night and exploded into flames, killing two trainmen, injuring nine other persons and leaving three men missing, two of them crew men and another a railroad inspector.

The two trains ran together ten miles south of here at 11:43 p. m. (CST), the locomotives stacking on top of each other and front cars telescoping.

The northbound train, the Katy Flyer, was enroute to Kansas City and St. Louis. The southbound train, the Katy Limited, was enroute to San Antonio.

Both trains were heavily loaded with Christmas mail. An estimated 1,800 sacks of mail burned and another 1,800 were saved. Mail sacks were found 300 feet from the tracks.

Several thousand dollars in currency shipments were recovered by Deputy Sheriff V. E. King of Comal County.

The accident occurred on a single straightline track. No block signals are used along that part of the line and trains pick up orders from points along the line, officials said.

The trains carried a total of 42 passengers.

Mickey Pattillo, special agent for the railroad, said the two engines "evidently got their order mixed up."

Only J. M. Bayless, Arlington, Tex., baggage man, was listed in a critical condition, early this morning at the new Braunfels General hospital.

Portions of the trains—number three headed south and number six head north—were engulfed in flames following the collision and pieces of the engine boilers were blown several hundred yards into a nearby field.

San Francisco Near Ton As Ped Center,
Grand Jury States

San Francisco, Dec. 11 (P)—The San Francisco grand jury termed the city the second largest Communist center in the United States in a report last night urging establishment of a police intelligence department to hunt Reds.

The report recommended that the Communist party "be immediately outlawed in the United States."

"This city is the administrative center of Communist activities in the western United States and Hawaii," as a vital shipping and transportation center, San Francisco is in a precarious position when exposed to such active disruptive elements within the gates," it said.

QUIT ROBBING
GERMANY, U. S.
TELLS RUSSIAACCORD FOR BIG 4
HINGES ON SOVIET REPARATIONS

By Alex Singleton

London, Dec. 11 (P)—A firm United States demand upon Russia to halt the removal of reparations from eastern Germany confronted Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today and upon his answer may hinge the success or failure of the Big Four conference here.

Molotov's reply may be made at today's meeting at which the council is expected to turn its attention directly to the question of reparations—a matter which has stymied agreement for a week on a dozen other issues related to Germany's economic unification.

Authoritative government sources said that Molotov was also expected to give his reaction to reports that the U. S. and Britain have reached a tentative agreement revising last year's pact for economic fusion of the American and British zones of Germany so as to give the U. S. control over economic and financial policies.

Blunt Language Used

British informants said the new arrangements, effective Jan. 1, probably would "open the way for a new line of attack" on the western powers' policy in Germany.

The informants declared that economic and financial control in the merged zones would be in direct proportion to each country's contribution to a common budget. This would mean that the U. S. would assume virtually complete economic and financial control over the two areas, as American negotiators have agreed to take over all of Britain's dollar commitments, the informants said.

In the bluntest language he has yet used during the conference, Secretary of State George C. Marshall yesterday accused Russia of extracting German assets at the rate of $500,000,000 (millions) a year while the United States and Britain have been pouring in $700,000,000 (millions) to keep Germany alive.

Marshall declared that the withdrawals must cease by Jan. 1. He called upon his council colleagues to make that decision at once. It was apparent that this time the American secretary would be satisfied with nothing short of a yes-or-no answer.

BIG NEW DOCKS
OPEN IN TOLEDO

Railroads Build Modern
$18,500,000 Facility
For Coal And Ore

Toledo, O., Dec. 11 (P)—The New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio Railroads announced today that the "most modern" coal and ore dock on the Great Lakes—an $18,500,000 facility being built by the two lines—will open here next spring.

Located on Maumee Bay, the docks will be able to handle 20,000,000 tons of coal and 4,000,000 tons of ore annually, it was said.

The facility is to be operated by the Lakefront Dock and Railroad Terminal Co., jointly owned by the two railroads, and will include an adjacent railroad yard with 6 miles of track and 5,400-car capacity.

Supplementing the main yards will be nine smaller yards for coal dumpers and ore handling machines and with capacities of 110 to 250 cars each.

The announcement said the docks would be able to serve three coal boats and one ore-carrying vessel simultaneously. Winter mooring for 21 vessels will be furnished by slips between and alongside the piers.

An artist, Mrs. Wise had exhibited paintings at the Corcoran gallery in Washington and at the Pennsylvania Academy in Philadelphia.

Searchers Reach
Goose Bay Wreck;
Only 6 Survivors

Westover Field, Mass., Dec. 11 (P)—The U. S. Air Transport Command announced today there were only six survivors of the 29 American military men aboard the huge transport plane that crashed in Labrador's icy wilderness Tuesday night.

A doctor who landed at the wreckage eight miles north of Goose Bay reported that 23 were killed in the crash.

Names of the survivors and dead are being withheld pending receipt of a complete report.

A hard, driving wet snow has prevented any large-scale rescue operation but doctors and medical supplies are being landed by helicopter.

The huge transport plunged flaming to earth in forested, hilly country that could not be reached by air or ground for nearly 24 hours.

A rugged rescue party traveling overland with dog-sleds reached the wreckage last night—but first reports of the survivors came only after the landing of a radio-equipped helicopter.

Stormy weather hampered communications even though only eight miles separated the scene of the wreck from the Goose Bay airfield where the rescue operations are being directed.

It wasn't until daybreak that the first word came from Goose Bay. It was a terse message reading:

"Believe there are some survivors. Just before the report that some may have survived, the crash came."

YOUNG LANSING
BANDIT HUNTED

Woman Clerk Slugged;
Youth Escapes In Shopping Crowd

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 11 (P)—Police pressed search today for a young bandit who tried late yesterday to rob a tiny jewelry store, slugged a 50-year-old woman clerk and escaped into the crowd of Christmas shoppers that thronged the downtown section of the city.

Officers posted guards at the city's bus station and two railroad depots in the hope of nabbing the bandit if he should try to flee the city.

Store officials and police made a close check of the little, blood-splattered shop where the clerk, Sophie Ruda, was attacked while showing diamonds to the young man she thought was a prospective customer.

They expressed belief that nothing had been taken from the store.

The little store, measuring only six by 12 feet, is located two blocks from the State Capitol on Washington Avenue, main thoroughfare in the city.

Miss Ruda, treated at Edward Sparrow hospital for a severe head gash, told police she was alone in the store about 4 p. m. when the slightly-built man, wearing a weed coat, appeared and asked to see some diamonds.

He pretended to select one, she reported, and told her he wanted to "call his girl." He went to the store door, looked up and down the street, she added, and then returned to the counter and hit her over the head.

Jacqueline Claims
World Speed Mark
In Spurt For Fun

Palm Springs, Calif., Dec. 11 (P)—Aviator Jacqueline Cochran, flying "for fun," claims a world speed record of 469.5 miles an hour for a 100 kilometer (62-136 miles) closed course with a propeller-driven plane.

While her husband, Floyd B. Odlum, watched, Miss Cochran whipped her P-51 Mustang around the triangular course yesterday at a rate she said was only 28 miles an hour slower than the jet plane record for a similar route.

The record, which will be submitted for confirmation to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale in Paris, smashed Miss Cochran's own mark of 292.6 miles an hour for such a course, established April 20, 1940, at Acemita, N. M.

The Odlums have a ranch near here.

HOUSE TRIMS
STOP-GAP AID
BY 7 MILLIONFOUR-POINT PLAN
DRAFTED TO BEAT
HIGH PRICES

Washington, Dec. 11 (P)—Programs to stop inflation in the United States and send emergency aid abroad picked up speed in Congress today.

Fast action was predicted for the House Foreign Aid bill and the Republican Anti-Inflation program—though neither is quite what President Truman asked for at the start of the special session.

The Senate has OK'd the president's request for $397,000,000 to help France, Italy and Austria through the winter but the House had added China to the list of countries and cut $7,000,000 from the total amount.

Rationing Rejected

And the Republicans have offered a four-point plan to beat high prices instead of the president's 10-point program.

The main difference between them is that the Republicans would ask industry to hold down prices by voluntary measures, while Mr. Truman wanted power to ration some goods and control certain prices and wages, if necessary.

Yesterday the House delayed final action on the foreign program while it killed amendments to (A) cut the bill to $290,000,000; (B) cut it to $500,000,000 and (C) raise it to $661,000,050.

Rep. Jarman (D-Ala.), a supporter of the program, planned to try one more amendment today which would raise the total to $650,000,000. In any case, he said, he thought the bill was "over the hump."

Must Provide Funds

Once the bill passes, money will have to be provided in a separate bill, which is now being written by the House Appropriations Committee.

Meanwhile, the Republican anti-inflation bill appeared likely to whip through Congress with only slight opposition from the Democrats.

One minority leader explained it this way:

"We will not try to block this bill because it will prove before long that something better than the GOP plan is needed."

The Republican program, which was introduced in the House yesterday, is based on a plan under which business could agree to hold

Strike at Atomic
Plant Is Averted;
Pay Boost Accepted

Oak Ridge, Tenn., Dec. 11 (P)—A 10-month-long labor dispute affecting 3,000 production employees of one of the government's huge atomic energy plants was settled here early today.

An agreement "in the dispute at Oak Ridge between the United Chemical Workers (CIO) and the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp." was announced at 1 a. m. (EST) by C. H. Williams, regional director, Eloise B. Stewart and Clyde M. Mills of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

It was reported unofficially that the union, which had sought a 25-cent an hour blanket wage increase for the 3,000 employees affected, had agreed to a 10-cent an hour increase under a contract lasting 18 months, with a clause providing for reopening of wage negotiations in eight months.

CITY ACCEPTS NEW CONTRACT

Lease With Solar Co.
Revised With Change
Of Ownership

At a special meeting of the city council Wednesday evening, the city of Escanaba agreed to release J. L. Jacobson from terms of a contract negotiated by the city several years ago with the Solar Furniture Manufacturing company, formerly headed by Jacobson, and to enter into a new contract with the Philip Reinisch company of Chicago, new owners of the local furniture plant. The Solar company occupies a city-owned building at 800 First avenue north.

The original contract was for a period of 20 years, of which three and a half years have elapsed. Under the terms of that contract the Solar Furniture Manufacturing company was to pay rental to the city at the rate of $100 per month. The terms of the new contract provide that the Solar company under its new ownership will pay $125 per month for the first five year period, $150 per month for the next five years, $175 per month for the third five year period and $200 per month for the remainder of the contract. The company name has been changed from the Solar Furniture Manufacturing company to the Solar Furniture company, Incorporated. The furniture company has the privilege of renewing the contract for each of the five year periods. The company maintains the interior of the building and has already expended approximately $25,000 in improvements.

HOLY LAND RIOT DEATH TOLL 153

Arab Flag Hoisted Over
Synagogue; Jews Toss
Bomb From Truck

Jerusalem, Dec. 11. (P)—Jews and Arabs battled today in Jerusalem's old walled city in a continuation of the Holy Land strife which has taken 153 lives in 12 days.

The deaths of 29 Arabs and two Jews were reported today in sporadic outbreaks throughout Palestine, principally in Jerusalem and the port city of Haifa.

British troops blocked the gates of Jerusalem's walled city, barring the passage of both Jews and Arabs who, panic-stricken by the violence touched off by the United Nations decision to partition Palestine, were moving out their possessions in army trucks. The death toll in the whole Middle East was 269.

Five Arabs were killed and about 30 were injured in Haifa by an anti-personnel bomb hurled from a small truck at a Lebanese bus and a taxi on Kingsway highway. The explosion was followed by bursts of shots.

A Jew was killed and another wounded in a bomb attack on a Tel Aviv-Jerusalem bus convoy near Beith Dagan. Several Arabs were believed to have been wounded when the convoy's escort fired on a coffeshop believed to have been the source of the bomb.

Four Arabs armed with pistols broke into the magistrate's court in the Arab city of Jaffa, held up the watchman and left with four rifles, ammunition and other articles which were court exhibits, an official source said.

In the old city of Jerusalem an Arab was slain by bullets and his mother was killed when she rushed to his assistance, an official report said.

Higher Prices May Skimp Santa Claus

BY STERLING F. GREEN
Washington, (P)—Christmas buying will ring up new records on the cash register, but the government believes Santa Claus' generosity will be tempered by high prices.

Some officials predict his pack won't be as full as it was last Christmas.

At the Commerce Department, which keeps tabs on all retail sales, experts think November and December buying will match the gain shown in October when merchants took in a record-breaking $10,025,000,000, of 13 percent more than in October.

At the federal reserve board, which watches department store business, officials forecast the Christmas trade will run from 5 to 10 per cent higher than last year.

But such a gain, the reserve men note, would mean an actual drop in the number of items sold because price rises have more than absorbed the higher rate of buying.

Total sales for the three-month holiday season will top $30,000,000,000 (billion) if the optimism of federal statisticians and their informants in the retail trade is justified. Last year's added up to $28,279,000,000 (billion), for October, November and December.

Other unofficial government reports on the third peacetime Christmas indicate:

It is a be-good-to-your-wife year. Household appliances sales will top last year both in number sold and in dollar value. More washers, refrigerators, ironers, vacuum cleaners, high-quality radios and other "reconversion" goods will be offered and bought. Toys are abundant, varied and of good quality. Some department stores didn't buy enough last Spring because the merchants were heading gloomy government forecasts of a recession this fall. But when business kept surging a rush of re-ordering began in September.

The lower-priced lines of goods which disappeared during the war are back. At higher prices, of course, but at least the buyer has a choice. Suits and shirts, even white ones, are to be had.

Nylon stockings, which many stores had to ration last Christmas, apparently will be offered freely despite difficulties arising from a new style trend to darker shades. In fact, stocking sales have been down in recent months.

Expensive jewelry and luxury goods won't sell as well as last year—not with food prices what they are. But "junk jewelry" won't sell as well, either. More buyers are insisting on quality.

There will be shortages of course if your taste in gifts runs to expensive things. Better ask Santa for a fur coat or a cabin cruiser instead of an automobile. Some brands of washing ma-

STEAM BOILER NEEDS REPAIRS

Locomotive Will Take Over Part Of City
Load Saturday

The large boiler at the city steam plant will be shut down this weekend to replace the insulation damaged recently by a leak in several of the boiler tubes. City Manager A. V. Aronson has announced. A railroad locomotive will take over part of the steam load while the large boiler is out of service, supplementing the small boiler which will remain in operation.

When the boiler tubes were repaired, temporary repairs also were made to the insulation but later examination revealed that the boiler could not be maintained in continuous service throughout the winter. Rather than hazard a breakdown during a severe cold spell, it was decided to shut the boiler down this weekend. An insulation expert from Milwaukee will arrive Saturday to direct the project.

The boiler will be closed down at noon Saturday and will probably remain out of service until Monday afternoon, although it is hoped that the repairs can be completed before that time.

City manager Aronson has requested that steam customers reduce heating requirements during the daytime hours while the large boiler is out of service but maintain an even temperature during the night so that the early morning demands for heat may be decreased. Experience has shown that a locomotive cannot adequately meet maximum demands as a replacement for the large boiler, the city manager said.

Delta-Schoolcraft Medical Society Elects Officers

At their annual meeting and banquet, held recently in the Elk's club rooms in Escanaba, the Delta-Schoolcraft Medical Society elected officers for the coming year.

Dr. G. W. Benson was elected president and the retiring president is Dr. H. Q. Groos. Dr. N. J. Frenn was named secretary-treasurer and Dr. William LeMire named delegate. Alternate delegate is Dr. A. H. Miller, of Gladstone.

By-Passing Traffic Lights Is Illegal

Motorists who drive through filling station driveways at Ludington and 14th streets to bypass the traffic lights at that corner will be ticketed for traffic violations, the city police department reported this morning.

The police department emphasized that this practice is extremely dangerous to pedestrians, as well as an imposition upon the filling stations.

chines and certain of the high-grade cabinet radios also are still shy.

All in all, officials foresee no shortage of spending money this Christmas or for some months thereafter.

The commerce department says the personal income of Americans has hit a $210,000,000,000 (billion) annual rate, a record. And personal savings, as the holiday season opened, were at a $12,700,000,000 (billion) annual rate, another record.

$2,000 Contributed To OVA To Finance Its Work Next Year

Approximately $2,000, or 50 per cent of the goal, has been contributed to date in the campaign being conducted by the Office of Veterans' Affairs for funds to finance its work in 1948. Mrs. Mary C. Canavan executive secretary, reports. The drive ends December 31.

More than 300 persons have sent in contributions or delivered them personally. Mrs. Canavan said. "We also have received many letters expressing thanks for the work of the office and urging us to keep our office and staff together at our present location."

Mrs. Canavan said contributions have been received from individuals and corporations in all townships in the county and in Escanaba and Gladstone. She expressed the "sincere gratitude of the Office of Veterans' Affairs staff and executive committee for the generous and loyal support of the people of Delta county."

Churchman, Veteran Of Arctic, Dies Of Bullet In Brain

Winnipeg, Man., (P)—Canon John H. Turner died Tuesday of a wound from a bullet he accidentally shot into his brain last Sept. 24. The accident occurred at his church of England mission 400 miles north of the Arctic Circle in a twilight land of storms, fogs and winds. He was 42.

The Canon and his wife lived in the two-room mission on Moffet Inlet, 1,000 miles north of the timber line.

He had returned from a seal hunt last September and stooped to pick up a pile of ice when the rifle he was carrying discharged.

The bullet pierced his brain and paralyzed his left side. His wife managed to keep him alive despite a skull fracture and subsequent gangrenous bed sores and meningitis.

When news of his plight reached happier climates, Canadian paratroopers, including a doctor, dropped at the mission Oct. 4. While the doctor nursed the 260-pound churchman and restored the use of his left arm with drugs, the troopers started a hunt for a frozen lake suitable for a landing strip.

Despite polar blizzards, they located a lake 26 miles away and Turner was started away from the mission by dog sled Nov. 22 for a rendezvous with a Canadian Air Force plane. The plane brought him the 1,570 miles to Winnipeg.

The Canon was a veteran of 20 years Arctic service. He had insisted throughout his hospitalization that he was determined to return to the mission.

The Escanaba post office will remain open until 5 p. m. on Saturday, Dec. 13 and Dec. 20, and until 7 p. m. on weekdays from Dec. 15 through Dec. 22, inclusive. It was announced today by Postmaster Regina W. Cleary.

All Christmas cards for out-of-state delivery, and all Christmas packages, should be in the mail today in order to ensure their arrival before Christmas.

"The heavy flood of gift packages and Christmas cards in post offices all over the United States makes early mailing essential," Postmaster Cleary explained.

Christmas cards for local delivery should be mailed before December 15, she said.

"Envelopes and packages may be marked 'Do Not Open Until Christmas' if desired," the postmaster advised. "Such notes are permitted both on parcel post and on regular mail, including Christmas cards sent third-class with a 1½ cent stamp."

The postmaster warned that envelopes of third class mail may not be sealed, either by licking the flap or by closing with Christmas seals, although Christmas seals may be affixed to the back of the envelope.

Close-Out Liquor Sales Here Are Up

Impressive Rites Held For Sergeant Chester E. Palmgren

Impressive military rites in which Company C of the Michigan National Guard, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, American Legion, veteran airmen, and the service men of the Bark River community participated were held Wednesday afternoon for Sgt. Chester E. Palmgren, Bark River veteran of World War II, whose body was returned from a United States Military cemetery overseas.

Rev. Gustav Lund, of Bethany Lutheran church, officiated at the service at the Boyle funeral home.

Members of the military groups met the funeral cars at the funeral home and marched in a body to Bark River cemetery. Massed columns of the D. A. V., Legion and V. F. W., led the procession, followed by the firing squad and honorary escort of 40 Bark River veterans in uniform. The body of Sergeant Palmgren was taken to the cemetery upon a caisson, provided by Company C of the National Guard. Six members of the company were active pallbearers and the contingent was under the command of Capt. Roy Johnson.

Parents Receive Flag

At the close of the rites at the cemetery, conducted by Chaplain Archie Wood, Sgt. George D. Gibbons, official escort, who accompanied the body to Bark River, presented the flag to the parents of the young soldier. Walter Arntzen, Wilbur DeGraaf and Jon Thorsen, Air Force veterans, flew in formation over the grave as the firing squad fired its volley. Tans were sounded by John Pellow.

Those taking part in the rites were:

Color Guards—Mike McCauley, William Koppes.

Color Bearers—Elmer St. Martin, Harry Compher, Nevin Reynolds, William Garbett, William Miron.

Chaplain—Archie Wood.

Bugler—John Pellow.

Disabled American Veterans—William Garbett, Joseph Blazek, Carl Johnson.

Veterans of Foreign Wars—John Pesowski, William Koppes, Chas. Erickson, Luke Peterson, Michael McCauley, Jacob Bink.

American Legion—Gerald J. Cleary, Robert E. LeMire, Ralph Olsen, John Pellow, Henry Koehler, Clinton Groes, Arthur Carlson, Archie Wood, Elmer St. Martin, Harry Compher, Nevin Reynolds, Herman Mielke, William Miron.

National Guard—Staff Sergeant George Anderson, Sgt. Leslie Anderson, Sgt. Clair Cook, Staff Sergeant LeRoy Erickson, T-5 Francis Papineau and Pvt. John Robitaille.

The military services were arranged by the Office of Veterans Affairs.

A delegation of Gold Star mothers, and members of the Auxiliaries of the Spanish American War Veterans, the D. A. V., the V. F. W., and the American Legion, attended the services.

Delegations of school children from the Bark River and Harris schools also were present at the services.

At the chapel service the choir of Salem Lutheran church sang "Come Unto Me" and Mrs. J. D. Krause and Miss Maureen Krause sang "Sunset and Evening Star," accompanied by Mrs. H. C. Stenberg.

Among the out-of-town persons attending the services were Marvin Palmgren, of Chicago; Lorraine Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Sundquist, of Marquette; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sundquist, of Niagara, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sundquist, of Nadeau; Mr. and Mrs. Len Dahl, Mr. and Mrs. Mayer Jacobsen and daughters, Shirley and Marie, Mr. and Mrs. William Palmgren and Mrs. Viola Nordquist, of Escanaba.

Flight Students Must Attend Ground School

Students of the Escanaba G. I. flight school, sponsored by Pioneer Aviation in cooperation with the Veterans Administration, who fail to attend ground school classes regularly endanger their eligibility for additional flight training now or at any future date. Allan Mathison, ground school instructor, declared this morning.

Private pilot ground school classes are held from 7:30 to 9:30 each Wednesday night, and commercial pilot classes are held each Thursday evening at the same time.

Ground school instruction is given in conjunction with actual flight instruction at the Escanaba airport and is required by the Veterans Administration, Mathison pointed out.

"It is absolutely necessary that students attend classes regularly to obtain credit for the training and to qualify for accredited pilot licenses," he asserted.

Only bona fide excuses will be accepted for absences. Any student who is absent from three consecutive classes without being excused by the instructor is subject to being "washed out" of the course, including further flight training, and may lose all further right to flight training under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Personal Funds Are Aid To Greece

Athens (AP)—Dwight G. Griswold, chief of the American Mission for Aid to Greece, is encouraging Americans of Greek ancestry to send remittances to help their families and friends here.

"These contributions, an important item in the economy of the nation, have provided vitally necessary food, clothing, and fuel for many Greeks during the last three years," he said. "They also have enabled Greek charitable and educational institutions to continue their work."

The mission chief says American dollars should be transferred through banking channels, because dollars are worth 8,000 drachmas officially and the black market "is a real obstacle to Greek recovery."

Duke Of Windsor Writes For Life

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Duke of Windsor has played many sensational parts during the 54 years which cover the drama of his life, but he has essayed a new and surprising role in writing a series of autobiographical articles which are beginning in the current issue of Life magazine.

Edward has had little to say for himself since the December day eleven years ago when he broadcast to a stunned world that he was abandoning the throne of his fathers for the woman he loved. Because of this, his story is likely to be received with mixed emotions in England where as heir to the throne he was the beloved prince charming, and later as King was held in deepest affection by his subjects until his abdication produced a shock that time hasn't alleviated.

The Duke observes in his first article that the time of his birth was "Britain's golden hour." He adds:

"Income tax was measured in the pence on pound sterling. Socialism was scarcely more than a theory. The first telephone had been installed in a royal residence only four years previously, and eight years would pass before my father acquired his first motor car X X X. It was hard to imagine that anything could shake the structure of the Englishman's world."

Well, the Englishman's world—along with the worlds of other peoples—has been rudely shaken. And it fell to Edward himself to rock the throne at an ill-starred time for monarchies. Whether this will have any lasting effect is something which only the future will disclose.

There are, of course, several aspects of the abdication but what troubles the average Briton most is that Edward should quit his post under any circumstances. Tradition says that since a king is born to his high position he belongs to the people. He may not abandon his task. So in the code of the playing fields of England, Edward has let his side down—and he was captain of the team. That was bad for the team spirit. Edward was probably the most popular Prince of Wales ever to hear the fateful words which have rung down through the ages: "The King is dead, long live the King." He is credited with being the best trained heir ever to don the crown. He had traveled widely in the dominions and knew his people better than almost any other Briton.

Edward could have made a great name for himself as king—and his services would have been invaluable in the trying times which followed on the heels of his abdication. This may sound strange in view of the fact that the British monarchy is constitutional and the sovereign theoretically has no power. However, an astute king does have much influence by virtue of his vast knowledge of the empire and commonwealth. His ministers of state constantly seek his advice, because frequently he knows far more than they about a situation.

Yes, I think England will read Edward's articles with mixed emotions. I'll bet a shiny sixpence that deep in their hearts the people still love him, though they blame him for the circumstances of the abdication—which reminds us that the Good Book records: "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth."

U. S. Approves Treaty

THE United States Senate has given almost unanimous approval of the inter-American defense treaty drafted last summer at Rio de Janeiro. Only one negative vote was cast against ratification of the treaty which provides that the United States will join western hemisphere nations in fighting off an attack against any one of them.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by Senator Milliken of Colorado who objected to the treaty because it failed to define the term "aggression." The treaty drew 72 affirmative votes in the Senate.

The inter-American defense treaty is the most important advance in hemispheric defense since the adoption of the Monroe Doctrine by this country. Nineteen nations are signatories to the treaty. It is extremely significant that the pact has been given such an enthusiastic vote of approval by the United States Senate because divided opinion in this country would serve only to create mistrust and suspicion in Latin America. United States participation in the treaty is, of course, the foundation of the entire hemispheric defense agreement.

The treaty implements the Monroe Doctrine under which the United States has been committed to aid in repelling foreign aggression anywhere in the western hemisphere. The inter-American defense treaty pledges the support of other American nations to the same objective.

Communist Trick

CHARGES in the New York Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, that Gen. MacArthur is using the Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, to give his troops "his distorted propaganda" have been bitterly denounced by the editors of the Army newspaper. The editors, both civilians, have vigorously denied that Gen. MacArthur or any of his staff dictated any of the contents of the Stars and Stripes.

This is another example of Communist trickery and it is particularly reprehensible because the false charge emanates not from Russia, but from Communists within our own country. The story in the Daily Worker very likely is the product of one of two former staff members of Stars and Stripes who were dismissed and returned to the United States from Tokyo after a loyalty check revealed their Communist sympathies. Both of these writers have since contributed articles for the Daily Worker, the Communist publication in this country.

An Army newspaper under the control of the general staff would be a valuable publication to the soldiers and Gen. MacArthur, a true believer in the principles of democracy, well understands this fact. There has never been any doubt that the commander in the Far East has made no attempt to dictate the contents of the paper.

Religious Classes

PRESENTLY before the United States supreme court is one of the most unusual and certainly one of the most important cases to come before the nation's highest tribunal in years.

Mrs. Yashti McCollum, wife of a University of Illinois professor, a professed atheist, is seeking to outlaw voluntary religious education in public schools, contending that such instruction is a violation of the first amendment of the United States constitution.

Mrs. McCollum has fought her case to the supreme court because she contends that her 14 year old son is embarrassed by being the only child in his class who does not take religious instruction in a Champaign, Illinois, public school that he attends.

The Champaign religious classes are not compulsory and they are not paid for by tax funds. The school system merely furnishes the classrooms and releases children from regular school time to receive the religious instructions, which are paid for by the Champaign Council on Religious Education, composed of Protestants, Catholics and Jews.

A similar condition exists here in Escanaba, where children are excused from school to attend religious classes provided by their own churches. The only difference is that such classes are not held in the public school rooms in Escanaba, but the children are excused from classes a longer period of time in order to permit them to walk to the churches where religious instructions are given.

Mrs. McCollum was defeated in the Illinois courts on her contention that the system being used in Champaign violates a constitutional guarantee against establishment of religion by law. She appealed to the supreme court and arguments were presented before the court this week. The justices have given no indication when they will hand down their decision.

Most Americans, certainly a huge majority, concede that democracy is predicated upon the principles of religion and for that reason, encouragement has been given to the development of religious education, but with adequate safeguards that all religious interests are treated alike.

It is ironic that Mrs. McCollum has brought this suit to the highest court in the land because her son may have been embarrassed as the only child in his class who did not take the instruction. Apparently she does not believe that he will be embarrassed by the concentration of the national spotlight upon him due to the court fight that his mother is waging in his behalf.

A Clarification

GOVERNOR SIGLER has given assurances that he does not intend to reorganize the conservation department and to return that department to political control. He made that known in a telegram to the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, preparing for their state convention.

The governor has been perturbed by what he called "unfounded speculation" concerning his plans for governmental revision, but Mr. Sigler specifically mentioned the conservation department in recent remarks concerning the need for governmental reorganization. Thus he invited the wave of criticism that resulted. Sportsmen definitely do not want the conservation department returned to the political spoils system.

It is well that the governor has corrected the wrong impression that his previous remarks had given and that he has come forth with a clarification that leaves no doubt of his intentions.

CAPTAIN JOE BEACH

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

The biggest asset Captain Joe Beach had was his smile.

The second biggest asset was his love of nature, love of the Tahquamenon River, and love of the Newberry region.

These he combined to make a profitable enterprise for himself and a scenic delight to hundreds of thousands who came for miles to gaze in awe at the beautiful 40-foot sheer drop of the mighty Tahquamenon, the river of the legendary Hiawatha.

Of course he had other lovable attributes. They went with his genial nature. He was friendly, accommodating and helpful.

To do what Joe Beach did, a man must have vision and faith. He loved the Tahquamenon and its amber water, its wild life, its trees and its falls. He felt that in America there were millions of nature lovers who would receive the same thrill from a leisurely trip on the river and he set about to make this possible.

History records how well he succeeded, how his vision came true, and how his faith was justified.

Newberry and Michigan will miss Joe Beach, but to his credit it may be said further that his enterprise was so solidly founded it will continue indefinitely.

And that infectious smile will never be erased entirely from the memories of his friends.

THE VANISHING MAID

(Christian Science Monitor)

A prominent women's magazine announces the gradual disappearance of maids from the American home. The cause: high wages, rents, costs, taxes. The result: people will seek smaller houses, more labor-saving devices.

By a curious mechanized process this brings the American housewife back to the old American virtue of self-reliance. But self-reliance in a modern apartment with help from an electric dishwasher is not quite the same thing as self-reliance in a frontier cabin with help from the eldest of a bouncing brood.

Emerson, the prophet of self-reliance, invited a somewhat abashed maid to eat with the family as a sign of democratic egalitarianism. Since then the situation has changed, and many a mistress creeps humbly into the kitchen to offer a timid suggestion to the maid. Now comes the machine, the mighty leveler, with its suggestion to trade in your cook for a pressure cooker and be undisputed mistress of your home.

The simplest way to take a cold shower in the morning—eat grapefruit.

PET SPEECH PEEVE OF THE WEEK

C. P. T., of Pittsburgh, submits this Pet Speech Peeve, and wins a free, autographed copy of my Practical Handbook of Better English: "My pet peeve is the women who read the commercials on cosmetic and soap programs. These women, with their phony broad A's and their agonized affectations, should have their mouths washed out with a good, strong, unscented lye soap."

The women broadcasters themselves are not to blame. It is the sponsors who insist on that artificial lingo.

For many years this column has emphasized the value of correct speech. But it has just as strongly warned against putting on airs, or otherwise speaking in a manner that belittles the intelligence of one's listeners.

Good speech, whether on the radio, on the screen, on the stage, or anywhere else, should not call attention to itself, as if to say, "What a smart boy (girl) am I!" A

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

New Orleans.—The new look of the new south is evident in this old city. What is happening in New Orleans is typical of the change that is transforming a whole region. The melody lingers on, but the magnolias and the crinolines are today very strictly a tourist attraction.

The goal is to make New Orleans the focus of the commerce and industry of the whole lower Mississippi valley. The city is to become again the great port that it was a century ago. Some big strides have been made already. Although the accent is unmistakably southern, the boosters talk with the fine ardor of a mid-western chamber of commerce.

They are justifiably proud of their International House. Several floors of a downtown office building have been converted into a handsome club which is a center for trade with Latin America. Special emphasis has been put on the link with New Orleans' next-door neighbors in Central America.

—GOOD WILL TOURS—

Representatives of the port of New Orleans, including the city's aggressive young Mayor DeLesseps S. Morrison, have made good-will tours to Central America to stir up business. International House has 1500 members instead of the anticipated 500. It is headquarters for Central American visitors, who are received with flattering cordiality. The target is not Latin America alone. The boosters point to a new steamship line linking Manila and New Orleans. There is no limit on their ambition.

The changes occurring throughout the south are less obvious but no less significant. They were speeded up by World War II and the vast upheaval in the pattern of living that came with it. The rural south lost population to the north and to new industry in the south. Former sharecroppers and tenant farmers are on the assembly line, and it is not likely they will ever go back to the farm.

As a result of this population movement, southern agriculture is being mechanized at an unprecedented rate. For example, rice in Louisiana and Arkansas is now largely harvested by combines and is dried artificially by dryers installed in recent years.

This is bringing changes in the status of the sharecropper. With attractive employment available in the cities, he cannot be persuaded to stay on the farm without some real inducements. It means a general rise in the level of living. What is more, the Jeeter Lesters of Tobacco Road are not up to operating the costly machines of modern agriculture.

Most significant of all, industry is locating plants in small communities throughout the south—close to raw materials. Often these are small branch plants of northern firms but many are new ventures financed in the south.

These changes are inevitably reflected in the politics of the south. Compared region by region, the south has one of the ablest representatives in Congress. It was no accident that Bilboism was defeated in Mississippi.

John C. Stennis—who defeated Rep. John E. Rankin for the late Bilbo's Senate seat—is an able citizen who believes that the south will move forward in its own way. That does not mean he is a flaming radical. Far from it. It does mean, however, that change is possible and that the south is not forever condemned to squalor and to moonlight on the crepe Myrtles.

In the new south such relics as Tennessee's ancient Sen. Kenneth McKellar seem out of place. Again, it was not accident that McKellar was one of the half dozen senators to vote against the European stopgap aid program. The leaders of the new south know that America cannot slam the door on the rest of the world. They know that world trade is essential to the future development of their region.

In the past, great men and great statesmen came out of the south. There are potentialities of greatness in the new currents that are now stirring this region.

puffed-up man speaker is bad enough; but a smarty-pants, stuffed-shirt woman is a horrid thing to contemplate.

Radio has made great strides during the past decade. The competent broadcasters are giving us a good pattern of natural, nonsectional (neutral) speech whose influence on the speech of the nation is definitely good.

Of course we still hear slovenly speech, incorrect pronunciations, and, occasionally, the incredibly exquisite and altogether phony accents of those creatures, both male and female, who swoon at themselves. But, fortunately, they are the exception and not the rule.

As a former operator of advertising agencies, with especial emphasis on radio, I know the folly of any language, written or spoken, that looks down its nose at people. These stry-pu-voiced women announcers, with their obviously spurious "cul-deh," may have a certain snub appeal; but I'll wager that simplicity and honest American naturalness would sell more cosmetics and soap flakes. What do you say?

The "one of" complex is confusing to many people. Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-13, gives an explanation and examples in a clear, simple way.

It's Going to Be a Great Help

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

NEWS NOTE—New York, Dec. 4.—A conference at the Naval Gun Factory concludes that it is virtually impossible to damage an oyster by an underwater explosion.

After reading the above item we tried to visualize the purpose behind such experimentation and decided that in the war of the future the majority of the enemy will be tucked away in underwater cities. Why else should the Naval Gun Factory officials confer on the question of the oysters?

Did the Naval Gun Factory staff try to kill an oyster with an underwater explosion? No doubt it did, otherwise there would be nothing on which to base its conclusion.

INTERVIEW—Deciding to get at the bottom of the mystery, and knowing that the Naval Gun Factory would not divulge further information, we talked the matter over with Joe Oyster and his family. The door of the Oyster home opened when we knocked and Joe stuck his head out cautiously. "We don't want any," he said in a thick voice and started to close up.

"If you don't talk," we said, "the Naval Gun Factory will hear about it!"

"Don't do that," Joe Oyster said nervously, trying to look over his shoulder. "It would bother my wife. What do you want to know?"

We explained that we were trying to find out the truth behind the Naval Gun Factory conference report that you can't harm an oyster with an underwater explosion. We asked him if he had been exposed to an underwater explosion. A fear formed in his eye. He nodded but for a moment he could not speak.

WHAT HAPPENED—It happened one day when we were running races over at the oyster bed," said Joe when he could recover himself. "It was a nice day with water all around and the track was wet and slippery—just right for some new running records to be set. It was a gala event and everyone had polished up his best shell to wear for the occasion. There were quite a few pearls in evidence."

Joe gulped and his eyes rolled in his head. He appeared on the verge of collapse but he rallied and continued his story.

"Suddenly there was a terrific explosion. The whole world shook. The racers were swept off their feet and some of them seemed to dissolve. They just disappeared. My wife and I clung to the rocks below the judging stand. It felt like someone was beating on our shells with a hammer. When things had quieted down we found that every oyster there had something wrong with him. My wife had gone quite out of her head and every so often I get a spell that leaves me in a fainting fit."

UNHARMED?—He began shaking pitifully, his eyes rolled once more and he fell over in a faint. His wife began laughing and screaming but she brought a pitcher of water and dumped it over his head. He sat up.

"Well," he continued weakly, "there were some men in diving suits came to visit us after the explosion. They went around asking questions and making notes. We told them all our symptoms but they just laughed and said oysters never did have good sense anyway. And when we said that the oysters on the race track had just disappeared, they start looking for pieces. There weren't any to be found so the men said we had just imagined that. They kept looking for bodies and when none could be found they were disappointed and went away."

Joe fell backwards through the door in another fit. His wife began screaming crazily. We closed the door gently and turned our back on that little house filled with tragedy.

OYSTERVILLE ECHOES—It was like that all over Oysterville. A few individuals, stronger than the others, staggered weakly through the nearly deserted streets. The nearby industries had closed. Seaweed was growing thick on the unmowed lawns. The whole place had the appearance of living death.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT—Leaving Oysterville we went to the Naval Gun Factory to report our findings, but no one was greatly interested. "The fact that you talked with a number of oysters proves our point that the oysters are unharmed," one official said. "Dead oysters don't talk," he added succinctly.

Then he made an unofficial statement on the purpose of the underwater explosions. "As you are probably aware," he said, "there are many valuable oyster beds on ocean floors all over the world. Our work here at Naval Gun Factory is directed toward the perfection of bigger and better weapons of destruction. But we do not want to harm the oysters in event of another war. The oysters must be saved."

We were more confused than ever after this. Because we had always supposed that oysters were valuable as food for man. If you save the oysters and kill off man, who would eat the oysters?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—It used to be said that the Roosevelt cabinet served only as a rubber stamp for the president; that it seldom debated important questions. Whether true or not, the Truman cabinet has become just the opposite, with the president giving his cabinet members ample time to sound off.

This is one reason why there has been so much rumor of dissension over the president's proposed inflation controls. Here is the inside story.

For several days prior to the message to Congress, a tug-of-war took place between Leon Keyserling of the economic council and White House Counselor Clark Clifford on one side, with two cabinet members—Secretary of Agriculture Clanton Anderson and Secretary of Commerce Averell Harriman—on the other. The two cabinet members were dead set against government price controls; the two White House advisers were for them.

The argument finally came to a head as the last full cabinet meeting before Congress convened.

"Well, Clint," said the president, addressing his secretary of agriculture. "You and Averell aren't going to like this, but we're going to come out for controls."

—BOARD OF CABINET CENSORS—

Harriman and Anderson argued briefly; finally asked: "Well, can I have a look at the speech before it's made?"

"Certainly," replied the president. A meeting was set for the next day at which all members of the cabinet who would be required to enforce inflation controls could take a crack at the text of their chief's speech.

At this meeting, Harriman and Anderson went over the text sentence by sentence, chiefly wanted to soften the impact of the message. But no final changes were made, and a second meeting was set for the next day, Sunday, to put the speech in final form.

At 10 a. m. Sunday, Attorney General Tom Clark, acting Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, Clark Clifford, assistant to the president John Steelman, together with Secretary of Commerce Harriman and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson all gathered in the cabinet room.

They remained there for four hours—until 2:05 p. m.—hashing over almost every semicolon in the message to Congress.

—PATIENT PRESIDENT—

Truman opened the meeting. "Now we're going to read it through, first," he explained, shuffling the pages of his speech. "Then we'll read it through a second time, page-by-page, and you can make suggestions."

He read the whole speech without interruption. Then he came back and read the first page a second time. No faults were found. But beginning with the second page, the suggestions began to pour in, chiefly from Harriman, with Anderson backing him up.

The secretary of commerce is hesitant and slow in public speaking, but at this closed-door session of the cabinet, he was eloquent and eager. "Now, can't we change this, Mr. President?" he suggested, or "Let's take that out."

Some of the Harriman points were well-taken and accepted without argument. However, most of them were vigorously opposed by Clark Clifford. In fact, Clifford took over the chief job of refuting Harriman and did a good job of it. Few of the others backed Clifford up.

Finally, after softening this sentence and that, the cabinet group reached the most important paragraph of all—that which asked Congress to vote price controls. A new commodity—steel—had been added to the speech since Harriman read it over the day before and the addition didn't make him happy.

Though critical of the steel industry for raising prices, Harriman contended that he could get the steel moguls to accept voluntary controls. He also argued that it was a mistake to ask for price controls of any kind, and proposed that this paragraph be lifted in toto out of the speech.

—ME-TOOING? TAFT—

Clark Clifford vigorously disagreed. The meeting struck a complete deadlock. Finally the president stepped out of the room for three minutes. When he came back, acting Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, who hitherto had said little, picked up a copy of the Washington Post, marked it with a pencil and handed it to Truman.

"I just happened to read Mr. Taft's statement on inflation, Mr. President," he said, "and it looks to me that if you take that paragraph on price control out of your speech, you'll be accused of simply me-tooing Senator Taft. Otherwise, his proposals are much the same as yours."

Truman picked up the newspaper and carefully read the marked portion. Harriman jumped up and read the paper over the president's shoulder.

"That's right," Truman agreed. "That ended the debate. The president stuck by his original position. The paragraph on price controls—the most important part of the speech—remained in his message to Congress."

Later, Secretary Harriman, as the man in closest touch with business and on the theory that the cabinet operates as a team once a decision is taken, was given the job of defending the controls which he did not want during hearings before Congress.

An executive says husbands should stop wives gossiping so long on the phone. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party line.

State Will Train Practical Nurses In Marquette HS

All women interested in nursing can now enroll in the practical nurse training course to be offered in Marquette beginning January 2nd, Miss Eunie Willis, nursing coordinator of the Upper Peninsula center, announced today.

Throughout the state of Michigan the program for practical nurse training is being promoted. At present five centers are established, in Battle Creek, Lansing, Traverse City, Detroit and Marquette.

The school in Marquette, which will serve the whole Upper Peninsula, is located in the high school. The course is for one year, and is directed by the state department of public instruction and financed by that department with the aid of the Kellogg Foundation.

Women between the ages of 18 and 50, who are in good health, and with an aptitude for learning the skills of practical nursing may enter the course. These students, if under 25 years of age must have completed two years of high school, and if over that age must have completed elementary school.

Women enrolling in the course will be training to care for the convalescent, the chronically ill and the subacutely ill. They will work under the direction of a professional nurse in the hospital and a physician in the home.

The first four months of training will be in school, with the nursing arts instructor. Study, lectures, and practice will cover the eight hour day course, five days a week. The next eight months will be spent in actual nursing in a hospital under the guidance of a supervising instructor.

Each class can accommodate only 20 students, but there will be classes starting every four months. There is a $50 fee for training and students will be required to buy three uniforms especially designed for the practical nurse. The total cost of these uniforms is $21.

After the first four months of training, the student will receive $3 per day while training in the hospital, which will aid in financing the student. Certificates are issued on completion of the course.

With the critical shortage of professional nurses, the practical nurse is assured of employment.

For further information and application blanks, write to Miss Eunie Willis, nursing coordinator, Marquette high school, Marquette. Full details will be sent all interested applicants.

Raw Potatoes Used To Fatten Steers

By Science Service
New Brunswick, N. J.—Potatoes can be used instead of grain for fattening cattle, experiments on the stock farm of Eugene K. Denton at Flanders, N. J., have demonstrated. Twenty yearling steers gained an average of twenty-five pounds each in a twenty-five-day feeding period on a ration of fifty pounds of potatoes each per day. This replaced a daily feeding of sixteen pounds of corn per day, and resulted in a total saving of four tons of corn for the whole feeding period.

Compensation Act To Be Discussed Here On Dec. 15

Whitney R. Dixon, local office manager announced that a meeting for employers in the Escanaba area will be held at the W. O. Oliver auditorium in Escanaba at 8 p. m., Dec. 15, for the purpose of explaining the new Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act, its regulations, and procedures to be used in administering the Act. A substantial number of its provisions will go into effect on the first of the year and will greatly affect employers who are covered by the Act.

The program will include an explanation of the purposes and advantages of the new Act, and its accompanying decentralization of the Commission's activities. A summary of the new amendments and high lights will first be presented, and the operating procedures and the forms to be used will be explained. There will also be a discussion on contested claims procedures and employers' contribution.

James Damtz, Employment Service manager will discuss the relationship of the Unemployment Compensation and Employment Service programs. Assisting local office personnel in presenting the program, will be Arthur Kent, field supervisor, Alex Hawkins, field auditor in the Escanaba area, and Bert Whalen, state office representative. At the conclusion, the conference will be opened to a question-and-answer period.

Employers in the Manistique area have also been invited to send their representatives to this meeting. The following evening, December 16, a meeting will be held in Menominee for employers of that area.

Cop Throws Wrench Into Tool Racket

New York (P)—Tipped off by a war veteran's mother, a Long Island City policeman trapped the perpetrator of a postwar job racket which has been flourishing in the metropolitan area.

It works like this: A confidence man promises to get his intended victim a well-paying position with a construction firm. But before taking the job, the applicant is advised to invest $20 or $40 in the necessary tools. Always helpful, the con man takes the money to buy the tools and disappears.

The scheme worked fine, say police, until Patrolman Edward Griffin gave a marked bill to an unemployed vet who had an appointment with one phoney job-fixer. When the crook started away with the money to buy "tools," he was arrested, and gave police details of the racket.

Q&A Service

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT) MAIL THIS column and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Escanaba Daily Press Service Bureau, 1217 Thirteenth st., WASHINGTON 5, D. C., for a personal reply. Don't telephone; write as directed.

Q. Why is there no snow in summer time in temperate zones?

A. Because the heat of the air adjacent to the earth melts it from reaching the earth's surface.

Q. When an unmarried serviceman who left no will and whose father is presumed dead, dies in the service, would his mother be entitled to his back pay?

A. If the mother can obtain from the probate court a letter of administration of the estate of the deceased son, she may be paid all the back pay resulting from his death in service. If she cannot be appointed the legal representative of the estate, then she is entitled to full pay only if she can establish proof of the death of the serviceman's father.

Q. In order to clean my waxed floors I have been using oiled rags. However, this does not improve their appearance, but makes them look worse. What would you advise?

A. Oil softens wax, therefore, never should be used on waxed floors. They should be swept with a soft mop or brush which is entirely free from oil. About once a week wax floors should be given a thorough cleaning with a cloth wrung out of warm, soapy water or, better yet, moisten with gasoline or turpentine.

Q. Are any States without hospital facilities for tuberculosis?

A. As of 1945, Idaho and Nevada were the only two states without tuberculosis hospitals.

Nippon Girls Hunt Spouses; They'll Be Year Older Jan. 1

BY DUANE HENNESSE

Tokyo, Japan. (AP)—All of the Japanese girls who are hunting husbands are mighty worried because every last one of them will become a full year older, come January first.

In Japan, a new calendar year adds a year to everyone's age. A baby is considered one year old the day he is born; and if he happens to be born the last day of December, he becomes two years old next day.

The information about the worried ladies scurrying for year-end husbands comes from one Masao Sasaki, a 33-year-old bachelor who works in a private mating agency operating under the name "marriage salvation."

And some of the girls, Sasaki says, really want to be saved.

Sasaki had overlooked the new year-age angle until one of his clients—who was losing that doll-like shyness that made Japanese women so charming before the war—told him to hurry up and get her a husband.

"I'll be one year older with the new year," she said, "and one little year can ruin a girl's aspirations."

"By gee!" said Sasaki, who turns a sharp bit of postwar English these days, "I never thought of that. Maybe that's why I'm so busy right now."

Sasaki thumbed his index cards of applicants ready to pay solid cash fees for the right sort of mates. Mostly, they're people in financial difficulty as the result of the war. The old, solid families still do their own match-making.

He read aloud: "Wanted, wife—one with 500,000 yen ($10,000) assets. Appearance disregarded. Applicant . . . 40 years old, open-hearted and trying hard to reestablish his business."

"College student—has exhausted all resources for education. On brink of abandoning same. Wants assistance. Age 24. Will tolerate wife up to 26."

One woman wanted a husband with a three-room house in Tokyo. "Hopeless," said Sasaki. "She's 27, with parents and four brothers." He shrugged. "The whole family wants to filter into the bridegroom's house."

Criticism Is a Habit of Age

BY RUTH MILLETT

"Whenever I catch myself starting to criticize a friend or pick a new acquaintance to pieces, I stop right there," said a happy-faced woman in her early thirties. "I figure that criticizing other people is a habit that grows on a woman through the years, and I don't intend to let myself slip into it, like so many women do."

She's right. Picking flaws in other people is a habit, and about as vicious a one as a woman can acquire.

It's vicious for several reasons. It ruins the personality of the woman who makes a habit of being critical of others. No woman is ever charming when she is pointing out what is wrong with someone else.

And it's a vicious habit because it sets a woman apart and makes her lonely. The critical person is never warmly welcomed.

Then, too, it is a habit that grows harder to break with every year of a woman's life.

Destructive Criticism

And, of course, the critical woman does a lot of harm through the years. She points out faults and magnifies them, tearing down instead of building up.

Next time you start to criticize another person, stop long enough to see whether or not you're enjoying yourself. If you are, the habit of criticizing has already taken hold of you.

Social - Club

Meeting And Party

The Evening Star society will hold its regular meeting Friday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, at the North Star hall. A card party, at which five hundred and pinocle will be played, will follow the meeting. The public is invited to attend the party.

Phoebe Rebekah Lodge

A regular meeting of Phoebe Rebekah lodge for election of officers and initiation of a class of candidates will be held Friday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, at the I. O. O. F. hall, North Tenth street. A social and a lunch will follow the meeting. Attendance of all members is urged.

Club Holiday Party

Attractive holiday motifs formed the setting for the Christmas party of the Bay View Home Economics club held at the home of Mrs. William Olson with Mrs. William Gabrielson, hostess. Christmas carols were sung and games played, followed by an exchange of gifts. Lunch was served, with the Christmas theme effectively used in the table appointments. Instructions in making capeskin gloves were given by Mrs. Piziali at the meeting.

Auxiliary Christmas Party

The American Legion Auxiliary held its annual Christmas party Tuesday evening in Legion hall, where a social program including an exchange of gifts, was enjoyed by 48 members. The Auxiliary has enrolled 19 new members since November. It was also reported that the response to the appeal for gifts for children was satisfactory.

Christmas carols were sung, with accompaniment by Josephine Barron. Auxiliary accompanist Candles lighted the tables at which lunch was served, and on a lace-covered side table there was a miniature Christmas scene.

The social program included bridge and five hundred, with Mae Carlson winning high score at bridge and Clara Garrett high in five hundred. Freda Derouin was party chairman.

School Christmas Concert Pleases Large Audience

It is so much easier to conjure a mental image of the Star in the East when well-modulated sopranos, muted horns and melodic strings lead the way.

Last night, students of the music department of the Escanaba school system did their part. A varied concert, featuring first the band and then the grade school chorus, a capella choir, piano soloist, and the high school orchestra was presented to a near full house in William Oliver Memorial auditorium.

As parents, students and music lovers left the hall, the general consensus of opinion was that it was a good concert and that the students exhibited a fine piece of musicianship. There were those who thought this concert superior to last year's and others who didn't. At any rate everyone seemed happy and in spirit with the season.

Under direction of Albert Shomento, the band opened the concert with K. L. King's "Desert Patrol," the Melody in F by Rubenstein and Parker's American Legion march. Clad in their band uniforms, the students presented a striking appearance and music well appreciated.

Grade School Chorus
The grade school chorus, in black robes and white surplices, presented the canonical version of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," a 17th century "Christmas Hymn," the French carol, "Cantique de Noel" and the Polish carol, "On that Blessed Holy Night." Miss Rose Mary Curran directed the chorus, and Miss Jean Belstrom, of Jefferson school faculty, accompanied the group.

The a capella choir, under direction of Miss Jesse Wick, presented an eagerly awaited portion of the program. The choir gave forth with volume and some interesting pianissimo work. Handel's "And the Glory of the Lord," Mendelssohn's "He Watching over Israel" and the Fred Waring arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic," presenting Merle Nelson in a baritone solo, introduced some excellent choir work and fine spiritual singing. Later, after performing Murray's "Madame Jeanette" and Leontovich's "Carol of the Bells," the choir was called back for performances of "The Kye Day of St. Bride" and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" was performed by Miss Eunice Holmes. An outstanding music student, of Miss Eva Coste, Miss Holmes played well, and with feeling. As an encore she played Templeton's "Relaxation."

The last portion of the Christmas program presented some interesting stage work, and vocals by Frank Hirm. The high school orchestra under direction of Miss Lisabetta Krahn opened with Bach's "Arioso" after which they played Gounod's "Nazareth," with Frank Hirm doing the vocal work. Jerome Kern's "Ole Man River," always accepted on light concert programs, was next. The audience liked it so well, Mr. Hirm was called back for a repeat performance of the number.

Fifth Symphony
The orchestra then performed the vigorous Andante Cantabile from Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony. Last on the program was a medley of Christmas songs presented by the orchestra and chorus under the baton of the music director, Albert Shomento. Lights were effectively employed throughout this portion. Miss Irene Steen was featured in vocal arrangements for the fantasy, enhanced with blue lighting in varied intensity.

Scenery for the concert, white paneling marked with the musical staff and words and notes of Silent Night, Holy Night, was under the direction of Miss Margaret Kranstover. Stage lighting was by Vernon Ihlenfeldt and Erwin Wolff.

Assuming that her first statement is true—that women who wear idiotic hats have moronic minds—which is granting her a good deal, there is still no logic in her final verdict.

Isn't it the moronic minds—rather than the idiotic hats—that cause the arguments and the divorces?

It's a safe bet that no husband ever divorced his wife because she wore crazy hats.

Keeps Him Interested
The woman who goes in for crazy hats at least keeps her husband interested in what she is wearing. The silly hats are an indication that she is still young enough to care about clothes.

It's the woman who goes dull and drab in her dress, once she has a husband, who is in danger.

So let's just cross off our lists this latest "reason" for divorce. If the goofy hats prove anybody has a moronic mind, it's the designers who dream them up.

CHRISTMAS WRAPPING
Trim gift-wrapped package with paper doilies. Take a 6-in. square doily. Accordion fold it. Fold it at middle and glue the folded doily to a long, narrow candy such as a peppermint stick. The candy forms the body, the folded doily forms the wings of the dragon fly. Attach the whole thing to the package.

BRIDE-ELECT—Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thibault of Nahma announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Corrine M., to William T. Lawrence of Ann Arbor, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Lawrence, of LaBranche. The wedding will take place at St. Andrew's church in Nahma, December 27.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You and your husband invite two married couples to dinner, and you wonder how to seat them at the table.

WRONG WAY: Put one husband and wife on one side of the table and the other husband and wife on the opposite side.

RIGHT WAY: The hostess puts one man on her right, the other on her left and the women guests on either side of the host, but arranged so that husband and wife do not sit next to each other.

SITUATION: Your husband wishes to invite, as house guests, a couple you have never met.

WRONG WAY: You tell him to write a letter inviting them.

RIGHT WAY: You write and invite them yourself, saying that your husband is anxious to see them again and you want very much to meet them.

SITUATION: A woman is invited to a small, informal dinner, in the home of an acquaintance.

WRONG WAY: She keeps her hat on.

RIGHT WAY: She takes her hat off as soon as she arrives.

Child Banished From Social Life

BY RUTH MILLETT

Social life, as it is organized by the young parents of today, is certainly rough on the kids.

They enter the picture only as nuisances, who have to be shifted around and taken care of somehow, so that the parents can get together to have fun.

Suppose the Joneses are having some people in to dinner. It is tacitly understood that the guests aren't supposed to bring their children.

So they feed their children early—a hurry-up, quick-lunch type of meal, because the grown-ups are eating out—and then the children face the prospect of being put to bed by a baby-sitter they may or may not like.

The children of the host and hostess fare no better. They, too, get fed early and hustled off to bed so they won't be in sight when the grown-ups arrive.

Once upon a time, children shared in the social life of their parents. Come to dinner meant "come and bring the children."

But such invitations are rare these days. Parents just don't approve of including the children whether they are doing the entertaining or being entertained.

The whole idea seems to be to get away from the children as often as possible. And don't think the youngsters don't realize it.

YULE PROGRAM"Babes In Toyland" Is
Basis For Gay
Presentation

The light opera "Babes In Toyland," by Victor Herbert, provided an appropriate background for a fine program at Tuesday afternoon's meeting of the Manistique Women's Club at Lakeside school. Children of the members were present as special guests at the meeting and the program was arranged especially for them.

Excerpts from the opera were sung in solo and group numbers, with Mrs. Robert Slining reading portions of the story in introduction to the various songs. Mrs. J. C. Wilde played the piano accompaniments and presented a solo, "March of the Toys."

Numbers presented were, "Bow Peep," "Jane," "Floretta," "I Can't Do That Sum," "Hail to Christmas," "Slumber Deep," "Song of the Poet," "March of the Toys," "Toyland," and "We'll Live in a Castle in Spain." Those presenting these numbers were Mrs. Scott Creighton, Mrs. Paul Hanson, Mrs. Elwood Taylor, Mrs. C. F. Anderson, Mrs. Carl Wedell, Mrs. Charles Slining, Jr., Mrs. Otis Schuster, Mrs. George Morton, and Mrs. Harold Cowdick.

A delightful social hour for mothers and children followed the program with refreshments served from a table attractively decorated in the Christmas motif. A beautiful miniature church, made for the occasion by Barney Johnson, centered the table. Around it were grouped attractive figurines which were genuine Hummels from Germany owned by Mrs. E. J. Brenner, hostess chairman. Among these figurines were angels with candles and children carrying Christmas trees. Wreaths with bows and Christmas stockings, placed about the room, added to the holiday setting.

Seriously Hurt
In Motor Mishap

Walter Richards of Lakefield is a patient in the Shaw hospital receiving treatment for severe injuries sustained Tuesday evening when his truck crashed into another truck parked along Highway M-77 about three miles south of Germfask.

Richards' truck was badly wrecked and the extent of his injuries have not as yet been fully determined.

The parked truck, belonging to Francis Plamondon, of Germfask was not so seriously damaged.

Ervin Dale Lambert entertained a group of boys Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lambert, 216 East Elk street, the occasion being his eighth birthday anniversary. All of the boys went to the movies and on their return enjoyed a tasty birthday lunch. A large birthday cake served as the centerpiece for the luncheon table. Each boy received a box of treats. Ervin Dale received many attractive gifts from his friends.

The children were served refreshments in the activity room. Centering their table was Santa Claus' reindeer pulling a sled of toys.

Assisting Mrs. Brenner as hostess were Mrs. J. C. Quick, Mrs. T. H. Bolitho, Mrs. E. J. Thompson, Mrs. Fred Hahne, Mrs. Charles Slining, Jr., Mrs. A. L. Lavigne, Mrs. W. F. Ketsauver, Mrs. F. Shaw, Mrs. L. Leslie Bouschor, Mrs. W. J. Broad and Mrs. Burkhardt.

Enforcement of Parking Law Hits
Many People Here

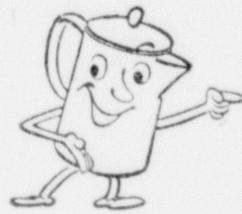

Disregard of the city ordinance prohibiting all night parking on city streets has resulted in the levying of numerous small fines for that offense the past week.

Judge W. G. Stephens, to whom the fines have been paid, states that many people who have received such tickets complain that they were of the opinion that this ordinance applied only to business streets in the city. He suggested that the Daily Press inform local residents that this ordinance applies to all streets of the city and that it was passed in the interest of snow clearance on all streets.

A letter received locally from the Munger's son Jack, Jr., states that among the anniversary features that pleased his father most was a large card containing congratulations and best wishes and signed by many Manistique people.

LIONS CLUB TO HAVE CARNIVAL

Dates Set For Four Days During Month Of July

Manistique will have a carnival, as usual, next summer—a carnival which will not be lacking any of those glamorous features which provide hi-jinks for children between the ages of six and sixty, but with the unusual difference that whereas in the past the money spent in past years has enriched the coffers of some traveling outfit it will now be used to help some worthy cause at home.

The Manistique Lions Club at its Tuesday evening's meeting launched this enterprise and have set next July 5, 6, 7 and 8 as the dates when it will be held.

As in the past, the Manistique Volunteer Fire Department will serve as co-sponsor, helping to police the grounds and assisting in the promotion of the carnival. Reimbursement will be made on the same basis as has been the case when the fire department sponsored out of town carnivals.

Committees have been appointed and their duties elaborated on. The executive committee will see to it that some of the objectionable features of professional carnivals will be conspicuous by their absence in this one.

The following committees are in charge of general arrangements:

Executive Committee—W. G. Wilson, chairman, L. Mulhaupt, E. Cookson.

Publicity—William Norton, chairman, E. Cookson, F. Pavlot, O. Smits.

Building and Grounds—E. Cox, chairman; C. Leonard, H. Plichta, E. Branyan and William Phillion.

Merchandise—R. Fiegel, chairman; C. Siddall, P. Gorsche, K. White, A. Robertson.

Lights and Power—H. Kennedy, chairman; V. Linderoth and J. Hanson.

Special Police—Volunteer firemen.

Cashier—Roy Anderson.

Home Ec Clubs To View Laundering Demonstration

Demonstrations on laundering of special garments will be given at a Homemakers meeting at the court house in Manistique on the morning of Thursday, November 8. Miss Opal Roberson, assistant state home demonstration leader from Marquette, will present the lesson.

Sweaters which the average high school boy or girl includes in his or her wardrobe will be used in a demonstration of cleaning woollens by using glue in the solution. The glue, Miss Roberson states, serves as a means of coating the woolen fabrics so that dirt can easily soak out and also adds a small amount of sizing which the fabric lacks after repeated laundering.

The homemakers will have an opportunity to make for themselves three shapes of pressing cushions and a pressing cloth, as well as seeing a demonstration on making a removable ironing board cover.

Two clubs from Thompson, two from Hiawatha township, one from Blaney and one from Manistique will be represented at the meeting here.

A similar meeting will be held at Grand Marais on Wednesday, Dec. 17, where two Germask clubs, one from Seney and the Grand Marais club will be represented.

Home economics work is being sponsored by the local county extension office.

Lipstick Not Legal For Will Signature

San Francisco (AP)—Superior Judge Franklin A. Griffin has ruled that a thumbprint in lipstick on a dying man's will has no legal force.

His ruling cleared title to a house valued at about $5,500 left by Guy G. Wren, metallurgical engineer. The property goes to his sister, Mrs. Dollie K. Goss, of Oakland, Calif.

Mrs. Grace Donoghue testified she supplied the lipstick for Wren on his deathbed to make the imprint on the document with the intention of transferring the property to her daughter, Mrs. Alice Hughes.

RUARK BEMOANS FALSE ALLURE

Ladies Today Have Too Much Hardware, Says Columnist

BY ROBERT C. RUARK
New York.—The mistletoe season sneaks closer, but somehow this year the old man's heart isn't in it. And this, my friends, from one of the sharpest spin-the-bottle and postoffice fanatics of the 1920's. I even had a loaded bottle, once, which would always stop spinning in front of a blond named Mary. She had dimples and got married to a ... but who wants to listen to an old goat's reveries?

I am going to be chary with my kisses this year, for cause. There was a time when you could snatch a bundle of drygoods up in your arms; imprint your lips on hers, and feel mildly exhilarated, as though you had just snatched a kiss from a woman. No more.

Any time I steal a peck in a dark corner, I am kissing no woman. I am kissing a creation, a production. I feel like I am kissing Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne, or a similar collection of inspired trend salesmen.

We have got girdles now to give milady the feeling of gay abandon she couldn't acquire short of a session with a cartoon of reefer. But this ersatz allure is wasted on junior. The wired bra has come in, for double fascination, but I don't fascinate easy these days—not when a clinch with a cutie resembles a rassing match with a knight of old, in full party hardware.

Dislikes The New Look
The amorous swain gets his eyes gouged out on junk jewelry, and well he might, for jewelry, the historians say, is an offshoot of the spurious feminine urge for self-protection. Fear not, fair damsel, I shall not approach thee—without thou takest off that barbed wire fence first. Once wounded, thrice shy, and anyhow, I came away without my piers.

I rain curses on the heads of the new look and its inventors. They have given us a woman so swathed in drapery that I would rather ride in a rumbleseat with a well-wrapped mummy. The well-turned leg has gone from our ken. It lurks alone, unadorned, in 24 square yards of calico.

Every time I sniff the dewy drops of scent my love has daintily dabbed, earwise, I rush off to the sanctuary of the gen's lounge and hide there, quivering, and whimpering like a cuffed puppy. For what mere man can feel at ease when he knows, from reading the magazines, that the lady has doused herself with unguents calculated to awaken the latent beast in his tumultuous chest?

I am a fugitive before the brand names of Dangerous, Tabu, Shocking, Scandal, Anticipation, and perhaps, Ancient Babylonian Nights in a Harem, because mama done told me never to do no snuggling with gals that was all fired up by them frenchie smells. Mama used to say that if you let them hold your hand, the next thing you knew they'd be waving mink overcoats at you.

But my main quarrel with I'amour is caught up with lipstick, which has outstripped the girly people and the perfume people and even the wired brasserie people, who take a lot of outstripping. I am indebted to a New Jersey colleague, Miss Page Bridgman, for the full documentation on why I hesitate to yield my ruby lips, even in celebration of the Yule.

When I fortify my courage with a punchon of eggnog and bear down on an unsuspecting blonde, it kills my romantic yen to think that what I am going to smooch isn't really a pair of lips at all. I am going to be smeared up with a half-inch of cherry, cinnamon stick, barberry, honey, apple red, turkey red, raspberry, pimento, or red burgundy. You can have more fun in the kitchen, raiding the icebox.

As I tilt the chin and look down, I am staring straight at fatal apple, pink ice, brilliant, thrilling, siren, vivid, dynamite or bravo. And as Miss Bridgman says, cheers to you too, honey.

The war is over, so I haven't got to get all goosed up with stop red, victory red, jeep red banner red, rocket red, ordnance red, brass band, Burma, captain's red, allegiance red or freedom red. But with oyster back safe, you still have to contend with wonderful heart throb, red rouge, magnet red, merry go round, scarlet slipper—and, of all things, poker chip.

Getting tangled up with this much factory-built allure is just too much for a guy with tax worries and a slightly hardened artery. In front of me at the moment is a picture of a dame shying away from an ardent young man, and she is saying: "I'll keep my kisses until you keep brushless with Barbarsol."

That's good enough for me babe. Keep 'em. I'm a brush man myself.

Australia Plans Aluminum Industry

Canberra, Australia (AP)—Australia's aluminum commission has recommended that 10,000 tons of aluminum be produced annually in the nation's $12 million industry planned for Tasmania.

A report presented by Sen. John Armstrong says the commission controls 800,000 tons of bauxite in Tasmania, 100,000 tons in Victoria, 120,000 tons in New South Wales. It is believed this supply is sufficient to keep the industry going for 30 years and other supplies are known to exist in Australia.

As winter reduces the number of visitors to the St. Louis Zoo, Palmer, the chimp, and Maxine, the lion cub, can no longer amuse themselves by looking at all the funny people. So the playmates, with time on their hands, proceed to get into mischief, as seen in the pictures below.

"C'mon, I've got an idea. Let's grab the keeper's hat!"

"I'll show you who's boss around here!" And so their pleasant game of Rip-the-Cap ends in a flurry of fists and claws.

Plan Giant Dredge At New York Harbor

By SCIENCE SERVICE

New York.—A giant dredge to maintain sea approaches to New York harbor will soon be in operation, it was revealed today.

It is an ocean-going dredge with a capacity of sucking up 6,000 tons of dirt and muck from ship channel beds every hour.

The new dredge especially designed for this harbor, is the latest weapon in the U. S. Corps of Engineers' constant battle to keep harbors and approaches navigable. The dredge is a product of Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Chester, Pa. All steam and electrical equipment were built by Westinghouse. It is a twin-screw turbine-electric vessel, propelled by two 4,000-horsepower motors.

For dredging, it has two giant swivel-jointed steel tubes 100 feet long projecting from the sides of the vessel. In action, these are lowered until their mouths drag along the bottom of the channel. Then, two 1850-horsepower pump motors go into action, sucking up 100 tons of mud per minute.

HITLER'S LAST SHELTER RAZED

Russian Guard Fires At AP Correspondent In Berlin

Berlin, Dec. 11. (AP)—Russian soldiers and German workers prepared charges today to demolish the chancellery shelter where Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun are believed to have died. The demolition was planned under the Allied program of destroying German fortifications.

A Russian soldier fired wildly at Richard Kasechke, American correspondent for the Associated Press, after the reporter had asked whether photographs could be taken and then failed to move fast enough when ordered off the premises.

The entry to the chancellery in the past has been open to the public as a sight-seeing spot. The Russians had published no restrictions against visitors.

With the Russian in pursuit, the reporter ran to his car and drove off. The Germans scattered.

German witnesses have testified that Eva Braun, long Hitler's mistress, was married to the German dictator a few hours before their supposed deaths while the Russians were storming the city.

Kasechke is a native of St. Joseph, Mich. He worked for the Associated Press in Detroit and New York before going abroad.

Hollywood Figures Fight Washington Trial For Contempt

Los Angeles, Dec. 11. (AP)—A legal fight against removal of Washington of 10 Hollywood film figures charged with contempt of Congress, nine of whom surrendered yesterday, was on in Federal court today.

Their attorney, Robert W. Kenny, informed the court during arraignment proceedings yesterday that he was raising a constitutional question and might need two days for arguments.

Kenny said he challenged the constitutional authority of the House committee on un-American activities to ask of the defendants: "Are you, or have you ever been, a member of the Communist party?" They were cited by the House, then indicted on contempt charges by a district of Columbia grand jury, for refusing to answer the question.

Van Eck is pictured in New York after flying alone from his Amsterdam, Holland, home, en route to Philadelphia for a delicate operation. He swallowed some paint flakes which lodged in his windpipe and lungs. There were no medical instruments in the Netherlands to remove the slivers, so the 4000-mile mercy flight was arranged. Holding Maurits is a family friend, Dr. H. P. Laquer, who accompanied the boy to Jackson Clinic of Temple University.

AIR DEFENSE PACT SIGNED WITH PANAMA

with Portugal to continue use of air facilities in the Azores is a temporary one, based on the continued presence of American occupation forces in Germany.

The new agreement with Panama, signed yesterday, calls for five-year leases on 13 sites outside the ten-mile canal zone owned by the United States.

Its most important clause, however, calls for a ten-year lease on Rio Hato, the huge air base 70 miles west of Panama City built for the operation of long-range bombers. This lease carries an option for a ten year extension.

The Rio Hato agreement has been under sharp fire in Panama and resulted in the protest resignation of Foreign Minister Ricardo J. Alfaro.

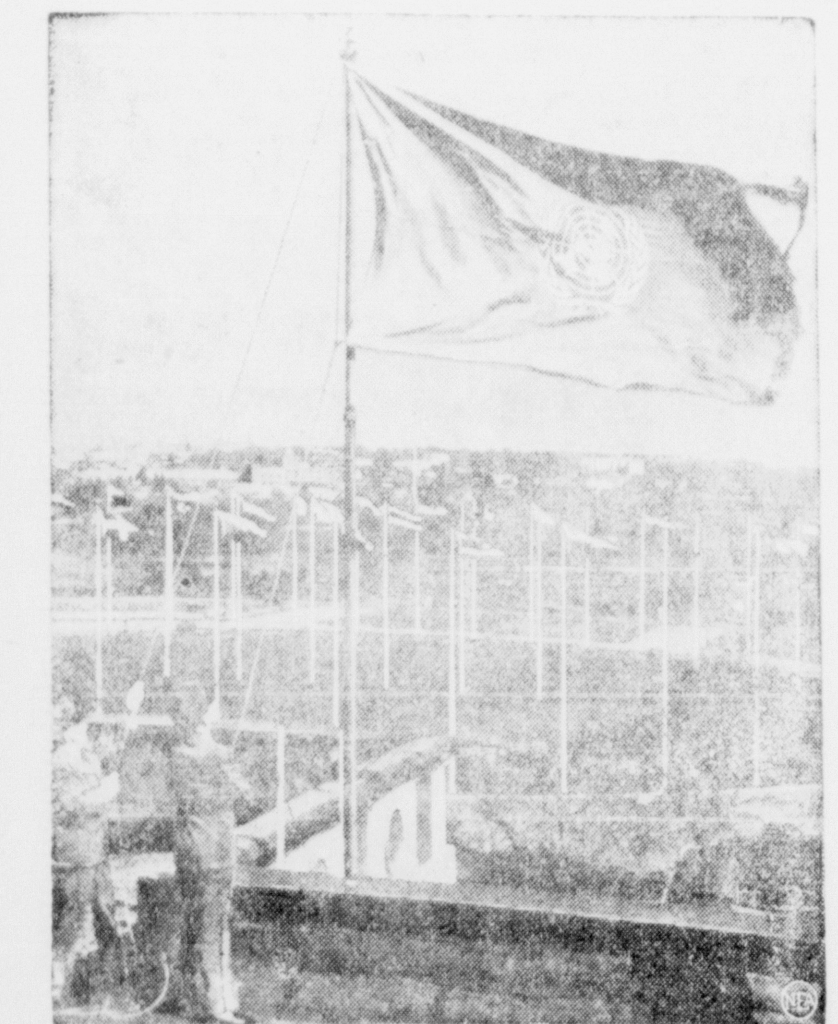

The State Department noted in announcing the agreement that Panama made available a total of 134 acres for U. S. military use during World War II. Aside from the 14 covered in the pact, the rest have been turned back.

Wartime-Qualified Aviation Cadets May Be Reinstated

Wartime-qualified Aviation Cadets whose hopes for pilot training with the Air Force were ended by the curtailment of the Aviation Cadet Program in 1944-45 may be reinstated, Major Edwin J. Leer said today.

The United States Air Force estimates that there are approximately 35,000 young men who had qualified for Aviation Cadet pilot training during the war who were either awaiting assignment to or actually undergoing flying instruction when the program was curtailed in 1944 and 1945 because of the successful progress of the war, he said.

The acceleration of the Aviation Cadet Pilot Training Program to a total of 3,000 Aviation Cadets during 1948 will make it possible for the Air Force to fulfill its obligation to many of these men who volunteered during the war. Men in this special category, Major Leer said, may be reinstated merely by passing the required physical examination, if they are unmarried, between 20 and 26½ years old and have had two or more years of satisfactory college study.

down living costs without being prosecuted for breaking anti-trust laws. It would:

1. Encourage industry and agriculture to share transportation, save grain in the production of livestock and poultry, divide up scarce goods, and regulate speculation on commodity exchanges.
2. Continue the president's authority to control exports for one year after Feb. 28, 1948, and authorize him to set certain ceilings on export prices.
3. Continue for the same period the president's power to say who gets first crack at rail transportation facilities like boxcars.
4. Increases the amount of gold held by Federal Reserve Banks which issue money and support the deposits of commercial banks.

(Federal officials said that section is meaningless because the reserve banks already have more gold reserves than the measure suggests.)

TRUMAN CRITICAL

Washington, Dec. 11. (AP)—President Truman met Republican counter-proposals for wage and price legislation today with the declaration that anything less than the administration's 10-point program for curbing living costs will be inadequate.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that he will submit to Congress in a couple of days specific legislation covering the wage and price controls which he has requested.

The president added that he also expects to submit other proposals to cover all the ten points outlined in his first message to the special session.

In a sharp criticism of one feature of the proposed Republican program, Mr. Truman said the country's anti-trust laws will be enforced to the limit as long as he is president.

He made this comment on a point in the GOP plan which would allow some relaxation of the anti-trust laws to permit industries and business to pool resources and information.

Lansing, Dec. 11. (AP)—Mrs. Ruth M. Tepatti, 40, of St. Charles, and her sister, Mrs. Elsie Pearl Shepard, 49, of Owosso, went on a Christmas shopping tour here Wednesday and did pretty well for a while.

The shopping tour brought them eight pair of curtains, two sheets, three pair of hose, four pair of shorts, two scarfs, one jumper, three pair women's pants, a shaving set, a set of dominoes, a parlor game, a man's shirt, a pair of slippers, a bottle of wax, a toy adding machine, an eraser, a toy builder's set, two boxes of Christmas tree lights, six pairs of nylons, two boxes of Christmas cards, two pairs of ladies' slippers, book matches, a cowboy outfit, two record albums, a doll and tooth powder.

As they were loading their car with the goods, Lansing police arrested them on a shoplifting charge.

Raise In Gasoline Price Protested By Michigan Auto Club

Detroit, Dec. 11. (AP)—Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced today a one-and-a-half cent per gallon increase in its gasoline prices in Michigan and the action drew an immediate protest from the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Detroit and Michigan motorists already have paid for three price increases so far this year," declared Richard Harist, general manager of the Auto Club.

Harist said gasoline prices in Michigan were raised in March, July and October.

He added that the new boost would bring retail prices of regular grade gasoline here to an average 25.3 cents a gallon—compared with 18.7 at the end of World War II.

ELKS BOOST BOY SCOUTS—The 1,475 lodges of Elksdom, representing some 900,000 members, have adopted for the coming year an aggressive plan to sponsor and assist financially the promotion of the Boy Scout program, Senior Scouting and Cub Scouting, especially in less privileged districts and neighborhoods, according to an announcement received by Robert A. O'Neill, Exalted Ruler of Escanaba Lodge No. 354, from Lafayette A. Lewis, of Los Angeles, newly elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the B.P.O.E. In this connection Colonel Charles Spencer Hart, Past Grand Exalted Ruler, has been appointed to represent the Elks on the National Civic Relationships Committee of the Boy Scouts of America.

Washington, Dec. 11. (AP)—Admiral Duke W. Ramsey, newly appointed Commander in Chief of the Pacific, to succeed Admiral Louis F. Denfeld who soon becomes Chief of Naval Operations, is the Navy's highest ranking aviator and musician.

Since 1917 when Ramsey was graduated from the Navy's flying school at Pensacola, Fla., and became naval aviator No. 45, his assignments have all been connected with aviation. The gray, genial, 59-year-old admiral is credited with having been the man most influential in selling the old-line "battleship boys" on the importance of aviation in naval operations.

His success as a naval aviator salesman almost brought him to the Navy's top job—Chief of Naval Operations. He was the only aviator under consideration as successor to Chester W. Nimitz, but a non-aviator got the post. When Admiral Louis E. Denfeld takes over Nimitz' office shortly, Ramsey will step into Denfeld's old job in the Pacific.

His career—long struggle to make the surface Navy air-minded—reached a climax during the invasion of Guadalcanal, the first major U. S. offensive action in the Pacific of World War II. Ramsey, then a captain in command of the famed aircraft carrier Saratoga, personally proved what airplanes could do over the sea.

After Ramsey further proved the striking power of carriers with the "Sara" in the Pacific in succeeding months, the top brains that were running the war decided Ramsey would be most valuable as Chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics. It was in this spot where he successfully directed the job of giving the Navy's fliers in the Pacific more and better airplanes than the enemy had.

Prior to his appointment to run the U. S. defenses of the Pacific, Ramsey served as Deputy Chief of Operations under Nimitz.

Although he will go down in history as one of the great fathers of naval aviation, "Duke" Ramsey is more affectionately known today as the Navy's outstanding musician and personality. His home in Washington has been a mecca for all music lovers. The "Duke" is an excellent piano player and an accomplished performer on every stringed instrument from a viola to a steel guitar. He is a master of everything from torrid boogie woogie to the classics—by ear.

While he was serving in the Pacific, as often as he could find time, he would borrow a piano which his good friend Admiral Halsey had taken from the Japs and play for hours and compose his own tunes. Some of them have been published and his best-known composition, "Gundelcinal," has been played by big symphony orchestras.

Western ballads are his favorites. He is an active and enthusiastic member of the Washington chapter of the Society To Preserve and Encourage Barber Shop Quartet Singing.

It is a rare evening when he isn't out playing at some party or entertaining a large group of friends in his own home. When the "Ramsey Serenaders," a collection of friends who make music with the Admiral, get together once or twice a week, the session usually lasts early into the morning.

Ramsey won his nickname "Duke" the first day he nicked to be of the class of 1912. He sported a handsome beaver bowler hat, carried a cane and wore a high starched collar with a fancy, loud necktie. His suit was the latest New York cut and his patent leather shoes gleamed in the sun.

When the midshipman who met the group at the station spotted Ramsey he exclaimed:

Admiral Ramsey: He sold aviation at Guadalcanal, then set it to music.

"Well, pipe the Duke, would you?"

The title stuck. But any of the boys present who thought that his fancy clothes meant Duke was less masculine than the rest of them were making a mistake. At the academy he won his letter in track and numerals in baseball, basketball and football.

U. S. Prestige High In Central China

By JOHN RODERICK

Shanghai, (AP)—American prestige among the people of China's central provinces of Kiangsi, Chekiang and Anhwei seems higher than anywhere else in the country. This is the conclusion I formed after 10 days travel through these rich areas by train, bus, jeep and steamship.

All along the nearby 2,000-mile route, I conversed with farmers, city folk, railway men, reporters, and businessmen—in groups and individually.

They still associate the United States with wartime aid against Japan and consider possible future aid as another reason for continued friendship.

Foreigners are rare in these provinces. Everywhere I went I was followed by crowds of children shouting the schoolbook phrases, "Hello, 'Goodbye, 'How are you?' I also heard for the first time since war days the exclamation "Mei kuo jen ting hao"—"Americans are tops"—in nearly every village and city.

To the American who has encountered an atmosphere of reserve, criticism and sometimes outright hostility in other parts of the country, central China's reaction is interesting as well as gratifying.

In the past two years and a half I have heard the United States' role in China excoriated by Yenan's Communists on one hand and praised by the Nationalist military leaders on the other. In between have been shades of disapproval, beginning with opposition from liberals, students and teachers and continuing all the way through to industrialists who complain that American businessmen are trying to run the Chinese into the ground.

In North China, Manchuria and elsewhere, Americans are button-holed with one of two questions. The government sympathizer always asks "why doesn't America give more help to China?" and anti-government, red or liberal leaders always ask "why does the United States back the central government when it knows it will only prolong the civil war?"

There are two reasons why central China fails to react in this manner. First, until very recently it was outside the orbit of the civil war between government and Communist armies; and second, as a direct consequence, the Communists' anti-American propaganda fails to strike home as often as it does in north China and Manchuria.

Central China has been surprisingly free of Communists in the past. It was once the main red base from which Communist leader Mao Tse-tung led his 70,000 followers on the epic 6,000-mile "long march" to Shensi, in the North; but it now has few, if any, reds.

Kiungkang itself gives striking evidence of this. When reds came within 10 miles of that city recently, government forces had no Communist fifth column to cope with. Not one person in Kiungkang was arrested as a Communist—which contrasts vividly with numerous seizures of reported reds or their sympathizers in recent north China and Manchuria campaigns.

It is safe to say, however, that Liu Po-Cheng, the roving red leader who has thrown his elusive troops into the hit-and-run fight for central China, will not waste too much time before undertaking an exhaustive political campaign among the peasantry. He brought with him at least 2,000 political commissars to go among the people to convince them the reds were fighting for and not against them.

The anti-American twist will come when the Communists inevitably unearth bombs, bullets or plane fragments from the debris of some ruined farm home—stead and point to American markings as convincing proof of their theme, that America helps the government fight the people.

When that day comes, it is likely that one of the few spots in China not now critical of the United States will change its views.

Buick Facilities Good For 500,000 Autos Next Year

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Flint, Mich., (AP)—Buick division of General Motors Corp. now has facilities for the production of more than 500,000 cars a year.

Harlow H. Curtice, Buick general manager, made this assertion in announcing completion of the multi-million dollar postwar reconversion, expansion and modernization program that began more than two years ago.

Buick's biggest pre-war production year was 1941 when approximately 378,000 cars were produced. So far this year it has assembled about 250,000 cars, being second only to Chevrolet among the General Motors car making divisions. Its 1947 total probably will be approximately 265,000 units.

The expansion and modernization program, which took an undisclosed but sizeable amount of General Motors' $500,000,000 (million) postwar reconversion fund, provides Buick with 17 new buildings and more than 2,000,000 (million) square feet of new floor space.

The new facilities provide for virtually all Buick operations, including manufacturing, assembly, foundry, forge and shipping activities. Largest of the new buildings and taking up more than one-third of the new floor space, is a new sheet metal plant for stamping, welding and painting hoods, fenders and other sheet metal parts.

Many of Buick's original factory buildings were demolished and removed to make way for the new structures on the 220 acres of manufacturing area the company uses in Flint.

Buick expects to bring out its 1948 models some time in January and for the first time offer as optional equipment a type of automatic transmission and gear shifting entirely new to American-made passenger automobiles.

Curtice frequently has said that one of his objectives is third place in car production and there are many in automotive industry circles who believe he will run 1948 output close to the 500,000 unit level—if he can get the required sheet steel.

He believes it will be 1952 or later before popular makes of cars can be purchased on short notice.

Marine life in the once radioactive waters of atom-bomb Biki Lagoon is apparently back to normal, with no discernible prospect of fission-produced monstrosities.

Save a few cents out of your Christmas budget and add it to prettier wrappings to delight your family and friends, advises Ruth Ann Baxter, New York business woman, who believes attractive wrappings increase the value of the gift a hundredfold, is willing to share her package tips with everyone. Her unusual wrappings have been known to keep the most curious gift recipient in suspense for days while the contents of the unopened package remained a secondary surprise.

can be bought in the tube at art and hobby shops and is squeezed out and written with as you would a tube of icing on a cake. Add a cat or Santa Claus or a tree as an added flourish.

(Top center): Copper colored paper is flecked with artificial snow in dab-dot style. A collapsible green paper Christmas tree or bell is open half way and pasted down with rubber cement on package.

(Top right): The first few bars of Silent Night are etched with black plastic paint over green glossy paper (not oil paint).

or tracing. Paint initials with plastic paint, sprinkle colored sequinettes over initials. When dry, dust off excess.

(Lower right): The deer package is a beautiful wrapping. It's green metallic paper is coated across lower part of the package with rubber cement. Dab cotton (from roll) over it. Get twigs (find them in woods or buy some at the dime store) and paint them with flat white paint. When dry, stick them in the cotton. Get some white plastic or celluloid deer in the dime store. Cut them in half. Cement one half on either side of the package. Put dabs of rubber cement around the upper half of the package, sprinkle artificial snow over the cement.

Any colorful contrasting ribbon can be used with these packages.

ROTE SPEAKERPeak Demands For Oil Is Basic Cause Of Shortage

Shortage of transportation and peak demands are the basic causes of the current shortage of gasoline and fuel oil in certain areas, Rotarians were told this week by J. J. Poffenberger, manager of the Thiessen-Clemens bulk plant, and chairman for the Upper Peninsula of the Michigan Oil Industry Public Relations committee.

One of the basic problems is the transportation of the oil in inflammable liquid, in the amount of five million barrels daily from fields in 25 states to some 400 different refineries for processing. Then the gasoline, fuel oil, lubricants and other petroleum products have to be carried to more than a quarter of a million service stations and many thousand other outlets in every corner of the nation.

After a brief history of oil transportation he pointed out that today the petroleum industry has devised and uses its own transportation system which includes pipelines, tankers, barges, tank cars and tank trucks.

The Thiessen-Clemens company with its big bulk plant at Kipling gets gasoline and other fuel here by tankers and distributes it throughout the Upper Peninsula by tank car and tank trucks. The local terminal handles approximately 85 percent of the Upper Peninsula's needs, Poffenberger said.

Today's all-time record demand is caused by high industrial production, mechanization of agriculture, new autos, home oil burners and other appliances and demand for new by-products, such as plastics, paints and synthetic rubber.

The speaker told listeners that the industry was doing to eliminate the transportation bottleneck and declared that the industry has always met basic public demands, both in peace and in war, and that it will continue to do so in the future.

BUDGET HELP

One good way to keep the budget from going all out of bounds is to take advantage of sales and bargains. Many frozen fruits, vegetables and fish, for instance, are on special sale from time to time, and such things as green peas, sliced peaches, golden sweet cut corn and fillets of red perch can be had to add variety to budget menus.

Eskymo Cagers Host Friday To Strong Iron Mountain Aggregation

Two Quintets Who Figured In Last-Minute Thrillers Last Week Will Meet Here

Escanaba's Eskymos, who by comparison were smooth as silk in disposing of Kingsford here Tuesday night, focused their attention on the practice floor yesterday and today on the clash here Friday night against the strong Iron Mountain quintet.

The game will be played in the junior high school gymnasium. It will start at 8:30 and will be preceded by a preliminary between the Escanaba and Iron Mountain reserves at 7. To date, the Eskymos have defeated St. Joseph and Kingsford and lost only to Marquette.

The "piece de resistance" tomorrow evening gives every indication of being one of those nip-and-tuck affairs of the same pattern as the Escanaba-Marquette thriller here last Friday night, in which the invaders emerged victorious by a one-point margin after being seared plenty in the last 60 seconds of play.

Story Book Finish

As young as this season is, the Mountaineers also have had some solid experience in last-minute thrillers. In fact, they went the Eskymos one better last Friday night by beating Ishpeming, 36-34.

After the game was over, it went like this: Harold Hicks, Iron Mountain guard, was fouled by Ishpeming's Doney while Referee Vescolani's cheeks were still inflated from blowing the final whistle. The score was 34-34.

A hush fell over the gymnasium. Not Miss Hush, mind you. Just plain hush! Hicks stepped up to the foul line and dropped the first free throw to make it 35-34. Bedlam broke loose as Iron Mountain roared with glee. And it wasn't until they cleared the gym and fans were on their way home that Hicks was able to shoot the second free throw. It was anticlimactic to be sure, but he made it, and the final score was 36-34 in Iron Mountain's favor.

Watch That Hicks

Hicks, incidentally, did considerable work before that free throw drama. Nothing less than 10 points for the evening on four foul shots and eight charity throws. He missed six others. In other words, he'll bear plenty of watching here tomorrow night.

His guard mate, Earle Hosking, also scored high, eight points, while Forward Bob Mortensen and Ed Sieder were collecting four and six points, respectively.

Ted Loftstrom started at center for Iron Mountain and Jim Pozza, erstwhile football guard, saw action.

Mountaineer lettermen back from last season are Mortensen, Loftstrom, Hosking, and Hicks, and among the coming newcomers are Don Flaminio, Bill Olivanti, Dick Rosenbloom, Sieder and Pozza.

The Mountaineers are of average height, which is good news to the Eskymos, who could use a bit more height themselves.

Drill On Defense

Fairly well pleased with his cohorts' floor game, Coach Jim Rouman took advantage of two days' practice between the Kingsford and Iron Mountain games by drilling on defense. Escanaba won handily Tuesday night, but a few loop holes in defense were uncovered which Rouman planned to have chinked by Friday night.

Probable Eskymo starters are Gary "Abe" Abrahamson and Ray Hirn, forwards; Warren Gustafson, center, and Jim Deane and Dick Lough, guards. Ready for utility duty are Dick Pryal, Harold Pearson, Harold O'Connell, Don Carlson, Ron Johnson and Ray Osen.

Officials will be Wallace Cameron, Gladstone, and Leo Brunell, Bark River-Harris.

Berardino Suffers; So Much in Demand

Monrovia, Calif., Dec. 11 (P)—Johnny Berardino, infielder, and Johnny Berardino, film actor, are (18) having a tough time figuring out whether they (he) can be both, or which.

Looks like the movies have Johnny, at the moment. He's signed a contract which can run for seven years with film producer Richard K. Pollmer and Johnny says "there's no way I can break that; I'm afraid that comes first."

However, the St. Louis Browns have traded Berardino to the Cleveland Indians and the Indians say they think Johnny will sign a baseball contract.

Hardwares, Chateaus Resume Old Rivalry

Bowling Sidelights

The race for the first-half title in the City league has developed into a nip and tuck battle and with only nine games remaining a photo-finish is evident. The league leading Wilkinson team now holds only a five game edge over the cellar-dwelling U. C. T. Jrs.

Prior to Monday night matches, Wilkinson's topped the list with a record of 18 wins and 11 losses but were followed closely by a five-team second-place tie, each with 15 on each side of the ledger. The C&NW 400's and the U. C. T. Jrs. occupied the seventh and eighth slots with 14-16 and 13-17 respectively.

After the smoke cleared Monday, Wilkinson's continued to hold the key position but only by a slim one game margin over City Drug. Paced by Johnny Schiska's 529 series, the U. C. T. Srs. took two games from the leaders. Endeavoring to regain first place, the City Drug keglers made a clean sweep over the Forest Service. Oscar Gravelle provided the necessary punch by twirling the top series of the evening with 571, garnered on games of 221, 168, and 182. U. C. T. Jrs. sank further into the cellar by dropping two to the Johnston Printers, and the C&NW 400's did likewise to the Maytag's.

Classic league bowlers found the pins to their liking Tuesday evening as 29 of the 40 members topped the 500 mark. Included were three 600 series registered by Herb Cain with 615, Walter VanDeweghe, 608, and Pete Christianson, 604.

Every member of the Liberty Loan five bested 500 as they charged out of their recent slump with a double win over the second place L. & L. team. Led by VanDeweghe and Eddie Gravelle with 240 and 221, the Loans established a record high single game of 1022, and a three game aggregate of 2788.

Claimant Transfer bowlers managed to increase their Classic league lead to two games by virtue of their double win over the Elks. Twirling in clean up spot, Pete Christianson was the big wheel in the Transfer attack with successive games of 204, 205, and 195. The Elks showed unusual balance with individual series of 503, 504, 503, 508, and 523.

Herb Cain continued his red-hot streak with another 600 as the Arcadians copped two from the Paper Mill. Herb's final game was 238, preceded by 201 and 176. With bowling like that he belongs in Chicago with Andy Varipana and Ned Day.

Founding out the evening, Puck and his Stegath mates came back to take two from Harry's after dropping the opener. Joe Rademacher had a rough time with a series of 381 on scores of 114, 126, and 141. Rademacher says now he knows how another Joe felt—Walcott!

We accepted a story from Walter Bjorkquist with a bit of skepticism as he told of Johnny Lunenburg's 245 game including 10 strikes, a spare, and a split. Furnished the details we find it can and did happen in the following manner: Frames 1-4, strikes; Fifth, a nine pin spare; 6 & 7, strikes; Eighth, an eight pin split, and strikes from the ninth on. Totals 245, even.

The Elks club pin-setters were treated to an exclusive interview from Dizzy Trout last Friday evening. Diz walked back to the pits and chatted with the boys about baseball and bowling. A nice gesture on the part of Trout and a happy bunch of boys he left behind.

Leaving tonight for Chicago, Harry Gafner will witness the remainder of the National Invitational Match Game Tourney as well as the Bear-Cardinal game on Sunday.

Rose Bowl Ducat Draw Underway At Ann Arbor

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 11 (P)—Fritz Crisler's unbeaten football specialists staged their first rehearsal yesterday for the 1948 Rose Bowl show, but the event was overshadowed by a formal but quiet affair in the University of Michigan ticket office.

While the Wolverines started the trek back to regular season form, a handful of university and alumni representatives and newsmen and photographers gathered for the drawing that will determine the lucky recipients of Michigan's allotment of tickets.

Inch-square cardboards, numbered 1 to 100, were placed in a bowl and 60 were chosen at random. Their order of draw and the corresponding application number were recorded for the purpose of allotting almost 60 per cent of Michigan's as yet unknown allotment to alumni west of the Rocky Mountains.

The number may be between 9,000 and 10,000.

The drawing process was repeated and 40 numbers were drawn to establish the near 40 per cent for members of the "Michigan family" living east of the Rockies.

When Michigan's allotment becomes known, sometime after Crisler attends the two-day Western Conference meeting beginning in Chicago today, tickets will be set aside for Michigan students and faculty members and the balance will be divided on the basis of the 60-40 ratio.

The first numbers drawn, in continued additions of 100, in each group, will be matched with the corresponding application number and the filers of those applications will be mailed up to two Rose Bowl tickets.

Thus, the first number drawn in the west group, 54, was matched with the application of Roy Anderson of (252 Hillsdale St.) Eureka, Calif., who will receive one or two tickets.

The Legionnaires will meet the last Johnson Sport Shop quintet in Marquette here tonight at 8:15 o'clock. There will be a preliminary between two Gladstone high school intra-mural teams.

The Schoolcrafters were leading, 50-48, with but seconds left to play when Schness was fouled on a shot and he made both free throws good, tying up the ball game at 50-all as the game ended.

Each team scored five points in the first overtime period and that ended 55-all. In the second, or sudden death overtime period, Ted Trekas got a free throw and then got a tip-in for two more points and the ball game.

In a preliminary, the Gladstone Lions routed the Escanaba Independents, 44-16.

NWM BATTLE HERE SATURDAY

Negaunee Boasts Win Over Iron River; Girl Game, Too

Escanaba and Negaunee, old inter-city rivals in both high school and independent basketball, will resume their rivalry when they meet in a Northern Wisconsin-Michigan League contest at the junior high gym Saturday night. The game is the first of a home and home series. They will meet again in Negaunee February 14.

Both teams were members of the Northern Lakes league last year who moved up into the faster competition of the NWM loop. The Hardwares have lost one league game this season, and the Beau Chateaus have been nicked twice, playing away from home on both occasions. Negaunee boasts a victory over the Iron River's Truckers, the one team which has bested the Deltas this year.

Ed Gauthier and Roy Johnson will open at forwards for Escanaba, Ranguette at center, and Bobby Anderson and Tom Dufour at guards.

Trevhella at center, Stanway and Jennings at forwards, and Pellow and Devoll at guards probably will start for Negaunee. Trevhella was one of the stars of the strong Ishpeming Legion team last year.

The Hardwares, with the advantage of their home floor, and greater height, rule as four point favorites but the Beau Chateaus are out for an upset and their speed afoot may turn the trick.

Two girls' teams will play a preliminary to the Hardware-Chateau contest. The game, which is being arranged by Miss Doris Costley, will start at 7 p. m.

Bowlings' 'World Series' in Finale

Chicago, Dec. 11 (P)—Sixteen big-name bowlers from the original field of 168 opened a four-day final match-game round-robin grind today for the seventh annual all-star national individual championship.

The winner of the nine-day marathon—bowling's "World Series"—will get $2,000 and the runnerup $1,000. Fourteen other cash prizes, ranging from $500 to $225, also will be awarded by the co-sponsors, The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors Association of America.

Charlie Johnson, Jr., a 28-year old mechanic from Bayonne, N. J., topped the qualifying rounds with a 36-game total of 7,586. He and the other 13 qualifiers thus joined Andy Varipana, defending champion from Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y., and Joe Wilman, 1945 titlist from Berwyn, Ill., both of whom were exempt from the qualifying tests.

Jimmy Demaree clinched pro golf's money winning crown when he finished second in the Orlando Open last weekend and collected $1,400. That gave him a year's total of $25,936.83 as compared to $24,327.50 for South Africa's Bobby Locke and $22,310.15 for Ben Hogan. Wonder what Jimmy will do with that 83 cents.

Leo Durocher, who was banned from the newspaper columns by Commissioner Happy Chandler last spring, recently signed a contract to write a book on "Them Bums" . . . Migosh, a whitewashed ghost, too!

Card Tricks Spice Major Loop Meeting

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Dec. 11 (P)—With all due respect to Johnny Berardino, Stan Spence, etc., the biggest deal made so far during the major league baseball meetings was when Magician Joe Kuhl, Washington manager, spent an hour in the hotel lobby showing card tricks to Lou Boudreau and Ted Lyons.

Detroit's Billy Evans maintains that everybody in the American League was "scared" by the Red Sox and Indians' dealings—especially the prices. "How can you pay $85,000 for a utility infielder?" Billy asks, and answers by saying "we can't."

The National Leaguers at least seem to be trying. Bob Carpenter, the Phillies Boss, told Herb Pennock: "The money is there if you can get anything worth while." But Manager Ben Chapman adds: "You offer to make a trade and they won't talk; then they go home and two weeks later start asking how about it. Those guys must think you don't know what they need."

The Easy Way

One of the sporting goods dealers at the meeting reports that he and his colleagues have figured out a cheap and simple way to sell a lot of football equipment.

"You locate the best high school player within 100 miles of Pittsburgh and set up shop on his front porch. In a couple of weeks you'll see every important college coach in America right there."

Waldorf Salad

The National League has been meeting in the Carpenter suite, which is significant of exactly nothing. . . . Charley Grimm reports that nobody has been making overtures for Bill Nicholson.

"They just call him a 244 hitter," says Charley, who would like to trade almost anybody for a good shortstop. . . . The "Pacific Coast major" plan, which will come up before the majors today and likely will go down again, was suggested by National League prexy Ford Frick when he was in California last summer.

Billy Southworth's activities yesterday indicate that he's trying hard to get some of the Boston headlines away from the Red Sox. The Braves' manager engaged in deep discussions with the Cards and Cubs . . . Joe Cronin, chatting with an old baseball pal, asked: "Did you ever think when we were in the Eastern league that we'd be sleeping at the Waldorf Astoria?"

"No," replied the pal, and "I didn't think so a good many years later."

Sportspourri

Jimmy Demaree clinched pro golf's money winning crown when he finished second in the Orlando Open last weekend and collected $1,400. That gave him a year's total of $25,936.83 as compared to $24,327.50 for South Africa's Bobby Locke and $22,310.15 for Ben Hogan. Wonder what Jimmy will do with that 83 cents.
